Foreword

GENTLE READER:

The Miller-Lanier comes to you through the courtesy of the Annual Staff operating on a frequency of once a year. The underlying thread in our yarn is a portrayal of the Old South just before the Civil War. We have assembled a number of pretty pictures and some interesting reading material for you and your posterity. We invite you to step within and peruse the contents.

History

Class History of Senior Girls

They say the South has often been referred to as "illiterate" since the Civil War. In all my life there has been only one time when I thoroughly agreed to it—when I was a dumb, terror-stricken freshman at good old Lanier. After the first six months, the newness wore off, and the freshmen of '27 completed their first year at high school fairly reconciled to the fact that the South was not so "illiterate" after all!

When we started the second year, we seemed to have jumped from one extreme to the other. Having been in high school a whole year, we felt our superiority over the girls just starting.

In our sophomore, year we learned that we were to graduate, not from Lanier, but from A. L. Miller High School. Although we hated to leave Miss Margaret, we could hardly wait to go out to the new school with our new principal, Mr. Lasseter, who had struggled with us in Geometry.

Leaving the old school and coming into the new was like going from the South of the Reconstruction to the New South. There was a friendly, hospitable air about the place, and the building was roomy and modern. One of the biggest attractions was the separate gym, with its showers and rings, and a large field in the back for ball courts.

Our senior year was an especially busy one. As the first class to graduate from Miller, we had to decide on a new ring, a new name for our magazine, and a new name for the annual. Besides these, there were the usual senior questions: Should we graduate in white or pastels? What kind of flowers should we carry? Which invitation should we select? To whom should we dedicate our annual?

We were very sorry to lose Miss Christian (who left us for Mr. Buck), but very lucky to have Miss Wadley as a new gym director. Another popular member of the faculty, Miss Buchannan, to whom we dedicated our annual, left us for the same reason (No, No! Not Mr. Buck—Mr. Kennedy). Miss Waxelbaum, as her successor, has already earned her place in the affections of the girls.

And now that our high school days are over, we hate to leave; and hope that Miller will miss us as much as we shall miss her.

Jo Riley, June, '32.

History of February Class

History must be stubborn facts
But never dull and dry;
It must shield from time's attack
With figures that never lie.

We were timid little Freshmen,
Filled with hope and fear,
When we screwed our courage up
And entered old Lanier.

Our wisdom as Sophomores
Was inflated beyond degree,
Until monthly reports shocked us—
We were sailing through on C!

When we were stately Juniors—
We'll never be the same—
We made Lanier so charming
We were asked to "change our name!"

And then as Miller Seniors
We bravely did our part,
Knowing that severed friendship
Is the sad fate of a school girl's heart.

We love our faithful teachers
Who guided us day by day,
Molding sterling character
When we were plastic clay.

May the Noble school live on
To bless with the righteous rule,
And watch the class of '32
Bring glory to Miller School!

Louise Moore, February, '32.

Class History of Senior Boys

You can always tell a Senior by his self-important air.
You can always tell a Junior by the way he combs his hair.
You can always tell a Sophomore by his sophisticated grin
That spreads across his features and even to his chin.
You can always tell a Freshman for he's always in a rush.
You can always tell a sub-freshie, but you can not tell him much.

When we, now the Senior Class, came to Lanier on the bright 14th day of September, 1927, we were just a dumb bunch of sub-freshmen. Anyone could tell that we were just newly arrived by the way we carried our books in our arms even to drill; by the way we hunted for the numbers on the classroom doors, and the way we bought study hall and elevator tickets.

At our first assembly on October 4th, the Sidney Lanier Chapter of the U. D. C. presented to our school a beautiful bronze tablet in memory of Sidney Lanier. After this gathering, events began falling thick and fast. Some of us were elected Thrift Bank directors and most of us elected ourselves depositors to same for "Senior Expenses." Our first parade was held October 10. My! what a thrill it was to march and drill with 1099 other soldiers. Then came a Fire Prevention Week and our first fire drill as well as our English Essay on "Fire Prevention."

Soon, came our first "day of expectation and dashed hopes." It was November 1st and we got our report cards to take home for signature of parents. Later in the month those who had made the Honor Roll washed their necks and ears because they were to eat lunch with the Rotarians and attend the vaudeville. During November we saw a lot of pretty girls at our school (too old for us though) who were from Wesleyan observing methods of teaching at Lanier. On Fathers' Night, November 25th, sixteen of us put on a demonstration of Mass Physical Drill for some of our proud daddies and then proudly escorted them around the building.

During that November a "high up" army man came to make the annual inspection. We made a good showing even though we didn't get "Honor School" or whatever it was the Juniors and Seniors were talking about.

On December 17, we went to see our first Senior Play "His Wedding Day." It was so well played and directed that we looked forward with eagerness to the time we could be members of the Senior Dramatic Club.

The Wednesday before the Christmas Holidays, our first year, the military department celebrated as Arbor Day. Dr. C. C. Harrold gave the battalion a splendid talk on "Trees of Romance." After which, each platoon and the band planted a tree. It was the duty of the members of the platoon planting the tree to care for it. As a result, a few of these trees are still growing and remind us of that moment we felt so important although we were only in the non R. O. T. C. We felt even more important in January when the Commandant took the Non-R. O. T. C hiking with the R. O. T. C during the drill period.

On April 5th, even though we were in High School, we enjoyed the half Holiday given to us for the circus.

We gathered in the auditorium on May 26 with the student body for a mock Democratic Convention. Each supervision had a representative who helped to nominate a candidate just as was done at the real convention.

Finally came our first "Day of Sweat." Until June 1, 1928 we had no idea what day this was or what the term meant. At 8 o'clock that evening we assembled in the auditorium for our first School Night which brought to a close our enjoyable and eventful Sub-Freshman year.

On September 12, 1928 we came back after a 3 month's rest and began to wake up to some of the activities of the school, we learned that the Orange and Green magazine was green in color only and so we sent in some subscriptions, stories, poems, jokes and news. Some of us were lucky (?) enough to get in the R. O. T. C. and get uniforms. Others took up musical careers with the band which had just received the Orange and Green capes. Those who studied in 207 were soon "dumb bunnies" and were jumping around to the "bunny sticks." Our second inspection came on a rainy day but nevertheless we were inspected and we rejoiced with the rest of the boys when word came back that Lanier was proclaimed an "Honor School"—Hurrah!

During the month of December and January we struggled with our lessons while noisy machinery was changing the contour of our back yard. After much clanking and snorting they made a splendid field known now as "Miller Field." It is used for a parade ground, football field and baseball diamond.

In our middle year, we put on our sophisticated grins and took active part in almost every extra curricula activity. Those with argumentative minds debated for their supervision and those interested in athletics went out for football, basketball, track, and baseball. The number of "L's" given the Junior and Senior years was the final result of the fine training they received.

We were disappointed, yet still proud of our team, when G. M. C. defeated us in the Championship football game by a 13-0 score.

The whole class got a big thrill when Arthur Ferguson, one of our members, won national recognition as Junior Rifle Champion of the United States. He went up to Camp Perry, Ohio in a rickety Ford with four other good marksmen and won this honor while we were "unlaxing" during the summer vacation of 1929.

The inspector again made his "look-over" and "Honor School" was awarded again to add to the glory of Lanier.

The kind fathers who guide the destiny of our school out Napier Way dictated that we return to classes December 30th, thus making us go to school on the 31st and on New Year's Day.

We began the second half of our High School Education by answering some difficult questions asked by Capt. Arthur Cundy, foreign representative of the Exchange Club after his interesting talk. We again listened to an instructive speaker when Private Peat persuaded us by his passionate gesticulations to hate war.

However, the most amusing incident of this year was the Varsity Faculty baseball game played on the Miller Field Diamond.

A competitive drill and school Night ended a most successful and eventful year. However this School Night was a sad one for us. Captain Zellars, our beloved Commandant, left the school for active service in China. This fine man, excellent coach, and conscientious instructor will always be missed at Lanier.

After another brief rest period of Ninety Days we returned to school to play our part as "snooty" Juniors. We had with us to begin the year a new Commandant in the Military Department, Lieutenant Philip R. Dwyer. Under his instructions and guidance we won "Honor School" for the third time in succession.

Miller  Lanier

The first note-worthy thing we Juniors helped to do was to cut the time for emptying the building in fire drill from one minute to 57 seconds.

It was in our fourth year that we had to write essays on "Peace, Its Desirability and How it May be Brought About." It was also in this fourth year that we studied for the first time a foreign language and learned to say "Buenos Dias Senor" or "Oui, Oui, Monsieur." Some of us labored with Chemistry and learned that hydrogen monoxide was good to drink and that the Chemical plants around and in Macon were very interesting to visit. Part of the class studied American History and learned the outline of the Declaration of Independence. Some of the boys in the fourth year Agricultural Department not content with showing off their rabbits and pigeons, doctored sweet pea seeds with a sugar coating so they would smell sweeter. The fourth year boys in the Commercial Department learned their "asdf; lkj" on the typewriter and learned in 307 how to read and write the modern hieroglyphics.

February 2, 1931 was a very important day in the history of our class. That was the day Miller High, only two blocks away, opened its doors for Third, Fourth, and Fifth year girls. This change in location of the girls' school produced a decided change in the route of a number of boys walking to school; also an enlargement of the number of tardies at first supervision.

Ever since our first year at Lanier we have looked enviously at the Seniors while they talked about rings, invitations, annuals, dances, and other Senior activities. But at last our Junior meeting was called and we elected our Senior Class President, Albert Reichert, and the staff of the School's monthly publication. June 5th was our 4th "Day of Sweat," and that night the General Order was read making us officers of the Lanier Battalion.

Our Senior Class shared with the Miller Senior girls the honor of publishing the first eight copies of the "Cloverleaf" under the editorship of "Flew" Murphey.

As a present to the school the Senior Class of '32 leaves 40 shining sabers to be used by the officers on parades and other special occasions. The sabers were paid for by the Senior Dramatic Club who put on the well-acted and well-directed "Mrs. Pembroke's Necklace."

Lanier won the honor of co-holding the Championship Title of G. I. A. A. Football with G. M. A., tying them in a very exciting game the 12th day of the 12th month with a 12-12 score.

Lanier went to the finals in the Basketball Tournament held in Savannah but lost to the Savannah High Quintet.

After struggling for four tedious years to earn the sacred appellation of "Seniors" we now feel thoroughly recompensed by the pleasure we have had especially at our "Senior Day."

It is graduation time and in our hurry and flurry to get black ties and white trousers we have forgotten, for a time, our school history during the past five years. Later, however, we will look back with pleasure on the 900 happy days spent at Lanier.

WHO'S WHO

Hockerville High School

O'SHEA, GEORGIA—1880

(Fifty-two years ago this little country school, long since rotted away, was attended by a number of towsled-headed youngsters, some of whom are at present pedagogues at Lanier. These caricatures were taken directly from the Hockerville Hot Shot, a leaflet that served as the school annual.)

PAUL RUEBINOFF ANDERSON

"PAUL"

Paul is an all round boy—all round where he is not wanted. This is Paul's third year as a senior at Hockerville, so his history is longer than any body else's. Outstanding in everything he undertook, Paul made his place in our hearts.

Debating; Push Ball; Hog Caller; Editor Hot Shot; Honor Roll; Song Bird; Bat Club.

SELBY HIRAM BUCK

"BUCK"

Buck is a tattle-tale. He told who put that snake in teacher's lunch box. Buck excells in athletics; he captained the whack ball team for two years, can chin the bar three times, and has only one pair of overalls.

Whack Ball; Fishing Club; Town Ball.

RICHARD JABBERKOSKY COATES

"DIXIE"

All the boys pick on Dixie, nevertheless he keeps at the head of the class and has never gotten a conduct card. Dixie reads Shakespeare all the time and is fond of Milkey Ways. Dixie likes Winola Threeves.

Health Committee; Dance Committee.

PILLSBURY ROYAL DWYER

"ROY"

Roy stays at the foot of the class. He is such a timid soul. He lets the other boys eat his lunch and just grins. However, we all love Roy and recognize in him great things. He's all the time drilling with a stick and drawing maps in the sand.

Bat Club.

JOSEPH HIGGLEMAN GARDNER

"JOE"

Joe is a good natured chap, stutters, and likes to fish. He goes around with a thistle tube in one hand and an erlemeyer flask in the other. Joe hopes to win the Nobel Prize in Chemistry some day. Being so swell a feller makes Joe hard to part with.

Potato Grower; Hockey; Mule Industry.

LORIEN WOOLFIN LEWIS

"DOC"

Lorien is a diligent pupil; he tries harder than anybody in the class, but somehow he just can't learn. He seems to have the worst trouble with English. As president of the hunting club, "Doc" will long be remembered. It was he who built the hunting shack down by the river.

Hunting Club; Bat Club.

WILLIAM JOSH MARSHALL

"WILLIE JOE"

Willie Joe likes music and biology. Offtimes may he be found beside the babbling brook in the flowery meadow picking away at his Jew's Harp and pouring over his biology. Willie Joe owns a Panama hat, and a warm chuckling laugh.

Jug Band; Bat Club.

EUNICE ROSENBLOOM PERKINS

"POLLY"

Polly is a little tomboy. She climbs trees in a most disgraceful manner, eats candy, pulls other little girls' hair, and tells stories. But Polly is a sport and will help you out of a pinch when you are in trouble. Polly is the life of the class.

Swimming; Horse-back Riding; Dramatics; Deermouse Sorority.

WILL WATERHOUSE SILLIMAN

"POP"

Pop is an apt lad, making good on the Tennis Team and thrilling the community with his melodious voice. Pop is especially fond of pets, owning a cute weazel.

Song Bird; Tennis.

MINERVA LOUISE SINGLETON

"LOUISE"

Louise is very coy and whimsical. While all the other children are out playing she is off in a corner reading Senior Plays. Louise is looking forward to being an actress some day.

Dramatics: Diving.

ALBERT JACKANAPES SWANN

"DUCK"

Duck is a vigorous lad capable of doing big things in a big way, but, alas, Duck wants ambition. Duck thinks nothing at all of cutting school and going rabbit hunting. He studies just enough to get by, but Duck is a great pal and no truer friend can be found anywhere in Squelsh County. Right active in sports was Duck.

Shot Gun Team; Town Ball; Push Ball; Bat Club.

STANLEY KRUESTER TANNER

"S. K."

We will remember S. K. by his loud guffaus, ear to ear grin, and patched breeches. The fact that he is dull in his studies makes Stanley more of a real boy. Robust and suple, Stanley entered into the activities of Hockerville with a vim. His besetting sin was throwing spit balls, a habit for which he received many a thrashing.

Push Ball; Town Ball; Hot Shot Staff; Hog Caller; Bat Club.

GEORGE ABERKIRK WHEELER

"RED"

Red always wears a stiff lace collar to school and keeps his books wrapped in brown paper. A keen sense of humor has George. He is marble champion of the school and can out-do anybody skinning the cat. George makes "P" in arithmetic.

Dance Committee; Jug Band.

The Annual Staff Takes a Jaunt

The Annual Staff was for educational and social purposes, taken to Atlanta by the Faculty Advisors. We studied the methods of making engravings at the Journal Engraving Company, observed printing processes and newspaper work, lunched at the Blue Boar, visited the Paramount Theater and all in all had a most enjoyable and pleasant day. We are deeply indebted to those who made the journey possible.

One of the high lights of the trip was the embarrassment of our handsome editor, who, while speeding toward Atlanta, nodded off to sleep and awoke to find someone supporting his head and someone's lily white hands timidly clasping his! He couldn't decide whether it was a dream or a nightmare. Another well-known member of the party was Rudy Vallee, alias Walter Chew. We wonder how often he visits the beauty parlor! Marcella Campbell with her raucous whisper and soulful eyes certainly had "Rudy" stepping—also Ed Bernd. If I could forget how to laugh—why, who knows what might happen?

West in her red dress certainly did play havoc with the men's hearts that day! A very modest little printer gave her a stamp with "Pretty One" written on it. Also a very young professor from Boy's High "professed" to be rather fond of red dresses—so he told the young lady when in the Paramount Theater.

Oh, by the way, have you ever played cow poker? Just try it on your next trip. Every time Flew Murphey and yours truly made a hundred points (every pig, sheep, horse, wagon, and car passed counted so much) we passed a graveyard which sent us back to a nice round goose egg! William Harrison and Ruth Hornbuckle proved experts in this game. Robert Hudson rendered us noble assistance by breaking in every now and then with the latest Scotch joke, thus distracting our opponents' attention. Even Mary Ellen was for us. She and Miss Little gave us the benefit of the doubt in every case.

We never did hear how Sam Pell, Virginia Addison, and Clarence Etheridge fared. They traveled alone, mind you. A coupe certainly is a convenient car all right, all right!

George Powell and Beatrice Graves paid very close attention when we attended "school" at the Atlanta Journal Engraving and Printing Departments. I never did like rolling pins and would you believe it—they have to roll out our pictures before sprinkling some kind of magic powder on them (it looks like plain ole Georgia dust) which clears them up wonderfully. Most of us were in the fog part of the time though, of course, such brilliant personages as Reichert and Hudson absorbed it all! The trip through the printing department was better suited to our scant "gray matter." Here we got our news right hot off the press!

Edna Crimmins rendered yours truly noble assistance in the "Blue Boar Cafeteria." Believe it or not (says I, not Ripley) that "gal" is certainly a connoisseur when it comes to good food. Was the food good? Ask Reichert—he ought to know!

Miss Bell and Wilson Burkett were highly amused in Griffin when Edna ordered a chocolate milk with ice cream and out came a dopey little curb service boy carrying a bottle of chocolate milk in one hand and a saucer of ice cream in the other! We certainly gave that town a treat by racing down the middle of the street. Pardon me if I wax poetical—just blame it on the weather.

Don't tell me you haven't heard of the famous "Paramount giggle!" I refer you to Reichert, Murphey, and Pell and please don't believe all they tell you—sounds bad, doesn't it?

Taking all in all, that trip was a whiz-bang!!

Military

Military History

After the World War the United States realized that some system must be installed that would procure National Defense that had been found lacking, but so much needed.

Plans were made at once to install Reserve Officers Training Corps in the largest high schools and colleges.

These R. O. T. C. units were not organized to teach the love for warring, but to develop the boy into a well rounded, disciplined, physical fit man, subject for any branch of life.

Lanier was among the first high schools in Georgia to have an R. O. T. C. unit. It was organized in the Fall of 1919 under the supervision of Major J. D. Blair. The next year Major Soulnier was sent to Lanier by the government as the first commandant of Cadets.

The following year, Major Matthews succeeded Major Soulnier, and in 1923 Captain Baer took up the duties of Commandant.

It was during this year, 1923, that Lanier was awarded "Honor School" of the Fourth Corps Area for the first time. This year the Lanier Rifle Team made a name for itself by winning the National Rifle Matches.

The following year, 1924, the boys were looking forward to entering their new building. This meant a new faculty would be on hand, and that they could all settle down and make Lanier the leading high school in the South, in the Military Department as well as in the other departments of the school.

From 1923 until 1926 the Military Department made no outstanding accomplishments.

But—from that year things began to "pick up" due to the industry of Captain J. T. Zellers who took command as P. M. S. and T.

Quite a number of new features were installed by "Cap'n Jake" as he was often called outside the school. The Non-R. O. T. C, consisting of first and second year boys, was put in charge of Mr. Selby Buck who gave the small boys just enough military to prepare them for the R. O. T. C. More attention was given to their physical training. Mr. Buck is to be highly commended on his splendid work with the Non-R. O. T. C.

Captain Zellers added classes in scouting and patrolling, map reading and making, musketry, interior and exterior guard duty, military courtesy, rifle marksmanship, and first aid. Assisted by his most able assistant, Sergeant Catron, in teaching these subjects, new life was added to the department which showed up in a marked improvement on the drill field.

IT CAN BE DONE was the motto of Captain Zellers and so much did he believe in it that the Military Department adopted it. Immediately upon its adoption the cadets began to improve in drill and uniforms were worn much neater.

In 1928 the Senior Class presented the school with new colors and a new battalion flag.

This same year the hard work of Captain Zellers and the cadets was rewarded and "Honor School" was given to Lanier. This made the second time Lanier had won this distinction. For this a red star was given to each cadet to be worn on the right sleeve.

1929 Captain Zellers began his last year at Lanier. This was constantly preying on the boys' minds as they had learned to admire Cap'n, but they worked hard determined to do their best.

The rifle team placed fourth in the Hearst Trophy matches which composes the leading Prep Schools, High Schools, and Colleges of the country. The same team also won first place in the 4th Corp Area Shoot.

This year a new system of drilling was tried out. By it the officer in charge was compelled to drill his unit in a given area.

Again Lanier was selected as "Honor School" in the 4th Corp Area. Knoxville was the only high school that came close to Lanier.

Nineteen thirty brought us a new commandant, First Lieutenant Roy Phillip Dwyer, to assume command of the post as P. M. S. and T.

Everyone thought it a great handicap for anyone to take over the post immediately after Captain Zellers but Lieutenant Dwyer, a West Point man and fresh from the regulars in China, soon established his word as law and order. No one could lay down on his job while Lieutenant was around and it was soon realized that great things lay ahead for the Military Department.

Things started off with a bang! The companies were organized and Lieutenant soon had them doing some high class drilling. The forty-five minutes allowed for drill were put into the most practical use. The classes already established in military were taught more thoroughly than ever before by Lieutenant Dwyer, Sergeant Catron, and Sergeant Carson.

The rifle team placed second in the 4th Corp Area match. Tennessee Military Institute was the only school ahead of Lanier. Lanier placed third in the Hearst Trophy match. For this each member of the team received a medal and the school a trophy. In the National Intercollegiate matches, which, like the Hearst Trophy match, includes all schools in the United States, Lanier placed sixth.

After the inspection in March Lanier was again awarded "Honor School". This made the third time in succession and the cadets get to wear the red star another year.

1931 began with Lieutenant Dwyer striving to teach the officers, both commissioned and non-commissioned more about military. Reviews on various subjects pertaining to military were given unexpectedly which caused the officers to keep well up on military.

The Rifle team placed 3rd in the 4th Corp Area shoot and is now shooting in the Hearst Trophy and National Intercollegiate Matches.

Company competitions have been stressed this year and are showing great results. A bulletin board is kept and the records of the best drilled company, best drilled platoon, best drilled squad, best drilled cadet, winning football, baseball, and track teams are posted. Each thing counts so much and the total will be added to the scores of the companies on Competitive Drill Day in June.

The battalion has already had its inspection and it was the stiffest one ever given. We have not heard as to the outcome yet but everyone is hoping that by some chance we again will win the coveted red star.

LANIER HIGH SCHOOL, MACON, GA.

May 4, 1932.

Subject: Letter of Commendation.

To: R. O. T. C. Unit, Lanier High School and Class of '32.

1. It is with marked pleasure that I offer congratulations to the R. O. T. C. unit at Lanier for the splendid work done during the school year now closing. You again won the coveted red star denoting honor school which puts you among the elect of the high schools throughout the United States. You have won the heartiest commendation from all persons who have had the privilege of seeing you in action. You have shown to the entire Georgia Educational Association by your performance and turnout at the stadium, a spirit of co-operation and facility of movement surpassing any other school in Georgia.

2. To the graduating class of 1932 is especially offered the well wishes and congratulations of the military department. Your splendid loyalty and co-operation in places of trust have shown you a class worthy of Lanier Traditions. Your splendid gesture of buying sables for the unit will long keep the memory of the Class of '32 bright at Lanier. It is my sincere wish that at times you are put in positions of trust and in charge of any job you will receive from your subordinates the same loyalty and co-operation which you have given me during your senior year.

PHILIP R. DWYER,

First Lieut., Inf. (DOL), PMS&T.

Miller  Lanier

What is the R. O. T. C.?

With the R. O. T. C. playing such a part in our school life it is well to put down a few words as to just what the R. O. T. C. is. Under the National Defense Act of 1920 the Army of the United States was divided into three parts: the Regular Army, the National Guard, and the Organized Reserves. As part of the Organized Reserves is the R. O. T. C. This is divided into two parts: the Senior R. O. T. C. in Colleges and the Junior R. O. T. C. in High Schools. We are a part of the latter classification.

The Junior units are established in various high schools throughout the country. Regular Army personnel are assigned to these schools to carry out the training. The object of this training is primarily to lay the foundation of intelligent citizenship by inculcating in the student habits of precision, orderliness, courtesy, correctness of posture, deportment, leadership, discipline, and respect for and loyalty to constituted authority; and secondarily to prepare the student for any further military instruction which will qualify him for leadership in time of national emergency.

The first object is carried out by various drills, adherence to certain forms of military courtesy, a strict carrying out of certain rules and regulations by which the school is run, the wearing of the military uniform in a neat and orderly manner, and finally by placing cadets of the senior class in positions of responsibility by which they lead and direct the underclassmen. In carrying out the second object certain theoretical subjects are taught about military. These subjects are taught in such a manner that the broader educational value of the thing itself is probably more important than the military knowledge imparted. If the cadet applies himself at all during his tour in the R. O. T. C. he should graduate a better citizen and a better leader for his community than if he had not had R. O. T. C. contact.

Contrary to the general opinion close order drill and physical drill are not the only subjects taught to the Junior R. O. T. C. Theoretical courses with as much practical work as possible are given in the following subjects: Citizenship, courtesy, first aid and hygiene, scouting and patrolling, guard duty, musketry, map reading, combat principles, and marksmanship. It is in these subjects that there is the development of the mind in addition to the development of the body.

Finally the Regular Army personnel on R. O. T. C. are under direct instructions to carry on their work in harmony with the other departments of the school. This is most successfully carried out at Lanier where the Military Department gives and receives to a high degree in the teamwork of all school departments.

MAN OF IRON

"God give us men. A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands;
Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
  Men whom the spoils of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
  Men who have honor; men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a demagogue
  And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking;
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
  In public duty and in private thinking."

SHIPS

Some ships voyage along the shore
With land in constant view.
Some launch out where the wild waves roar
And lick at heavens blue.

Some ships crawl through the placid seas
Where risk is never great;
And some sail where stark jeopardies,
Like madmen, lurk in wait.

Some ships lie on a waveless bay,
And flounder by the shore.
Some go down where the typhoons play
Above the seas dark floor.

Some ships sink while the lightnings flash
And seething billows surge.
The cymbals of the storm-god clash
An awful funeral dirge.

Some ships mock at the raging tide
And fill a watery grave,
And some hold close the land beside
And never breast the wave.

Lang Wroton.

Best luck always. (Buggie) "Snap"

FRIEND

I do not pray for a burden
That never tests the will.
Nor do I long for a byway
That never winds uphill.

I do not look for a fair sky
Above me all the year.
I'll not complain at the shadows
But smile when stars appear.

I know my load must be heavy,
I know the way is long—
Maybe I'll reel and I'll stagger
While others pass in song.

I must go out in the darkness,
Into the far-flung night.
I must face perils and dangers,
For what I want I must fight.

But in my prayers, I would never
Ask that my troubles end.
I only pray that through it all
God let me have one friend:

One who is gentle and patient
And trustful, brave and true;
Someone I love and am loved by—
One who is just like you.

VALOR

"Then welcome each rebuff
That turns earth's smoothness rough,
Each sting that bids nor sit, nor stand, but go.
Be our joys three parts pain,
Strive and hold cheap the strain;
Learn, nor account the pang;
Dare, never grudge the throe."

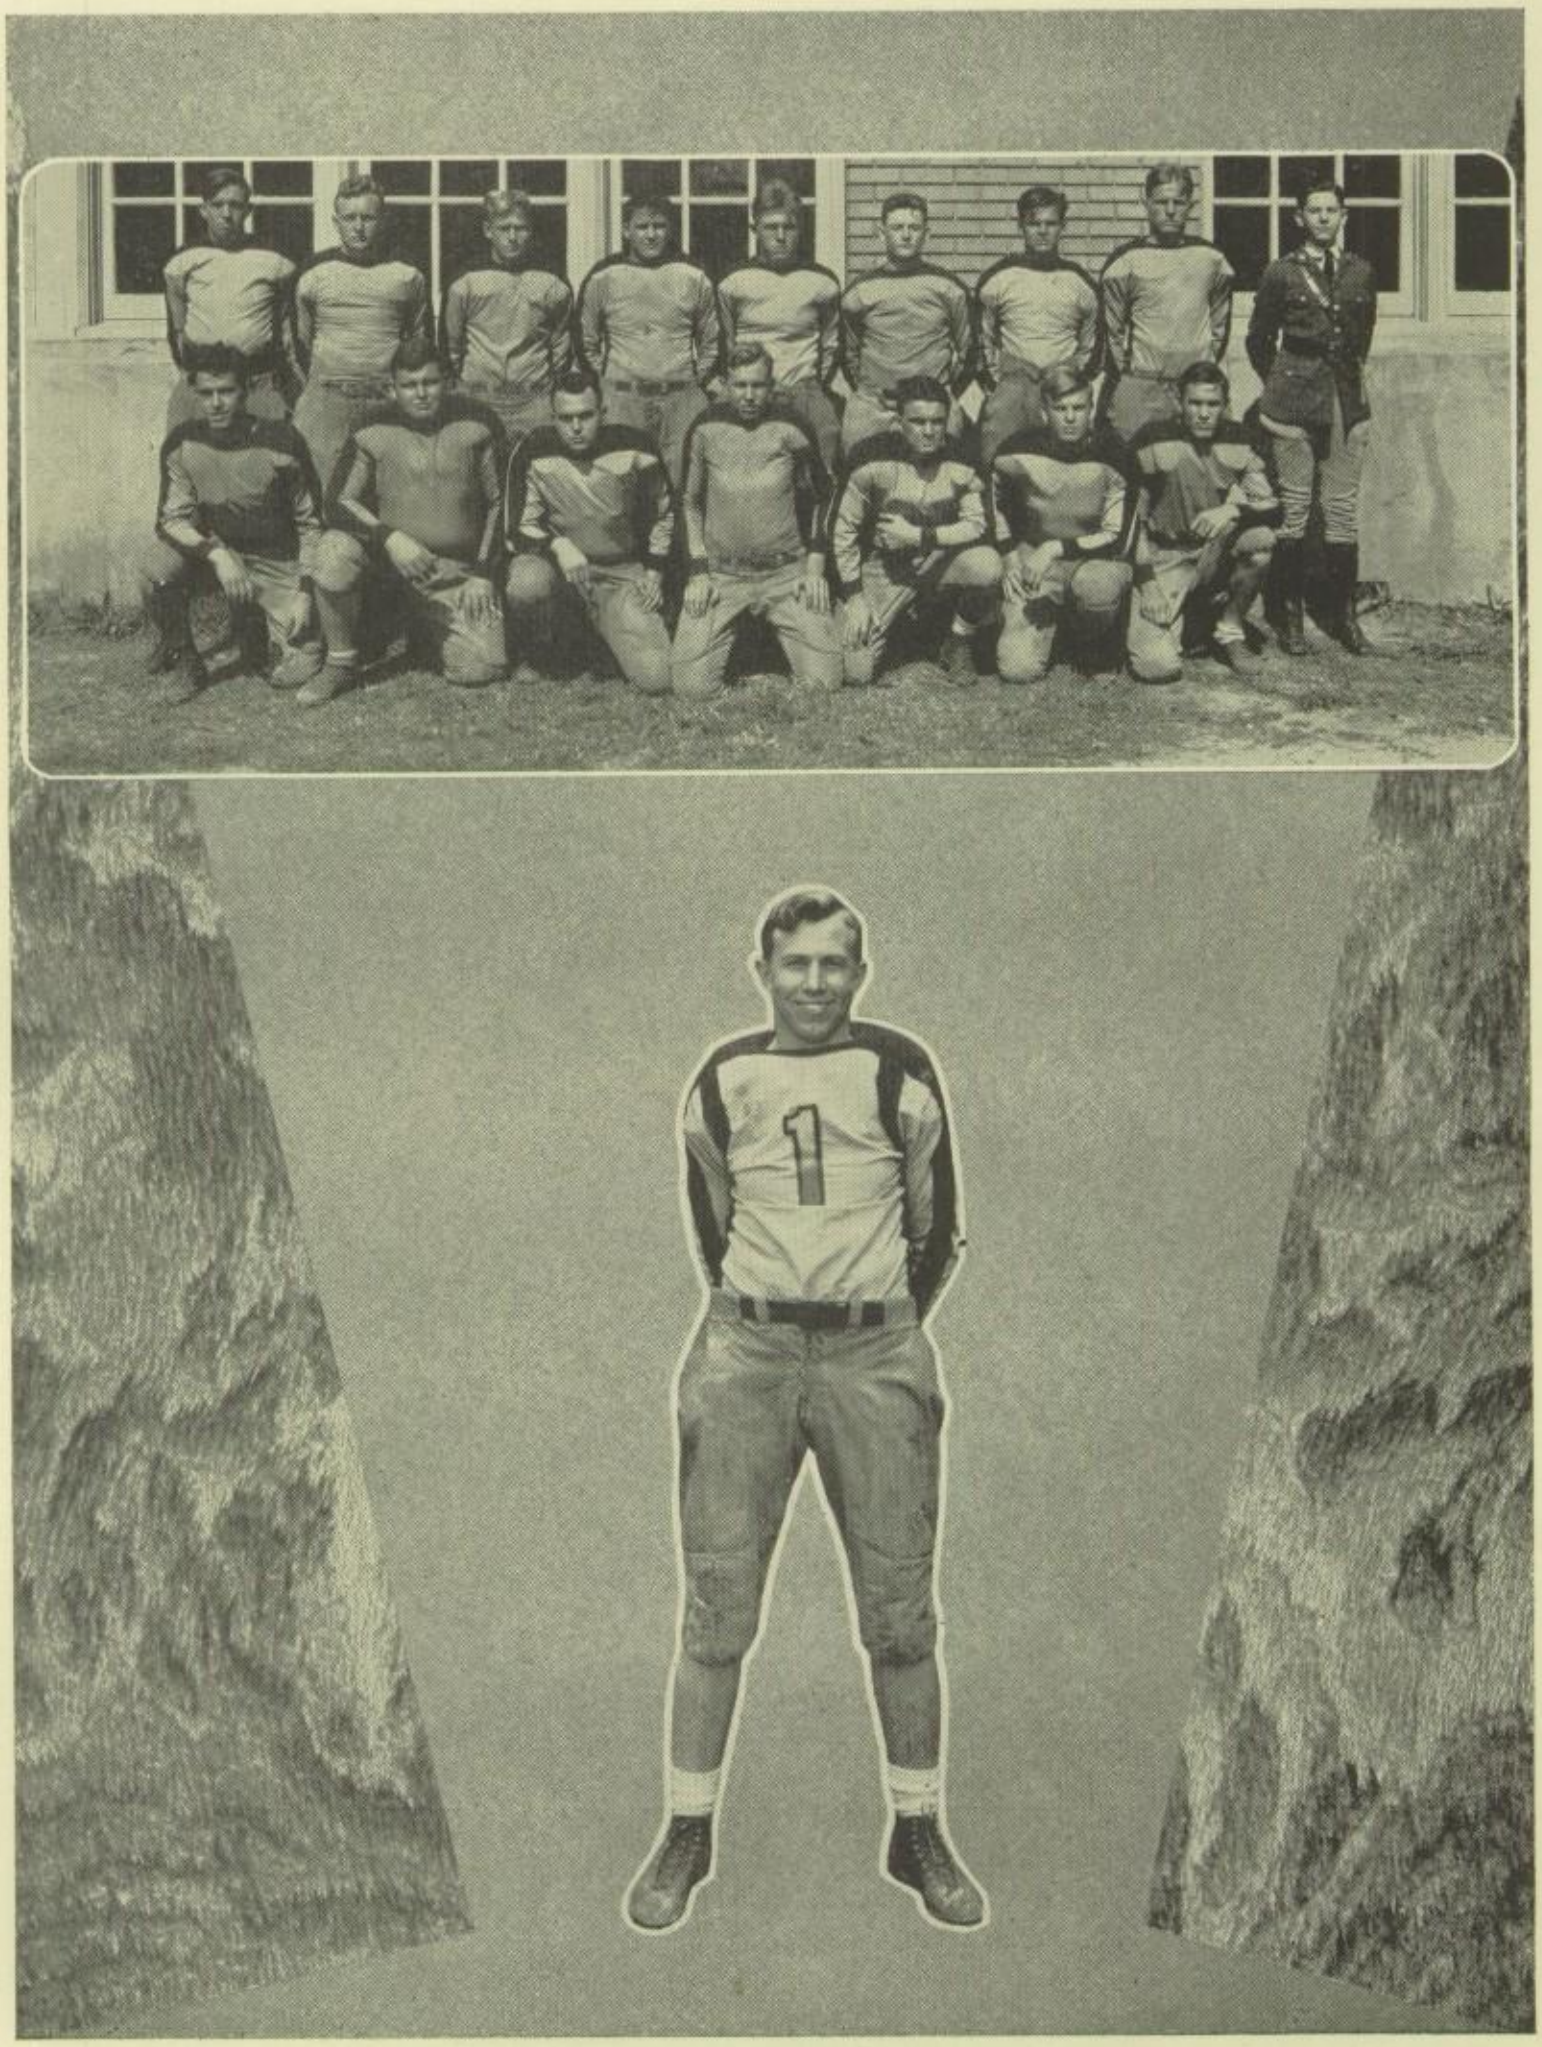
Football



FOOTBALL TEAM AND CAPTAIN

Football

The success of the 1931 Football Team dedicated to John T. Zellars, Ex-coach of Lanier High School, now in Tensin, China.

Lanier High School, Macon, Ga., Dec. 23, 1931.

Dear Captain Zellars:—

I wonder if you have ever dismissed from your mind the battles raging about you long enough to think of the battles which have been fought by Lanier here in Georgia. I know that Manchuria is perhaps a little more to fight over than an oval made of pig-skin, but I believe that the Lanier Football Team fought harder for that pig-skin than the "Chinks" for Manchuria.

Captain, I am sure you will be interested in these battles, so I will attempt to describe the season to you.

We went in training about the first of March, last year, and practiced for six weeks. As you know, Mr. Buck believes in Spring training as you do, and I certainly do agree with you both; for it was in the Spring of '31 that a Championship Football Team was produced for Lanier.

The season was opened by an encounter with Darlington Prep, who were underestimated. Lanier woke up in the last quarter and drove down the field for a touchdown, winning the game by a 6-0 score.

The next week-end found Lanier in Columbus playing the Columbus "Blue Devils." This game was much like the one with Darlington. Each game saw us off to a bad start, a fact due to lack of experience. Nevertheless, we brought home the bacon, having nosed them out 13-6.

The team rocked along and then came the big day; we were to play Savannah High School in Savannah. In this game our eleven-cylinder engine was skipping; therefore, we were held to a 13-13 count. It was in this game that our "will to win" was developed. Each of us became aware of a unity, a new life, and a spirit that every coach likes to see his boys have. It was this realization that made us Champions.

Then came the game with Columbus Industrial. The day was ours; we scored 27 points while the "Red Jackets" were standing around picking their noses. It was here that we got our eleven cylinders running and our attack well oiled.

Boys' High came whistling down the road from Atlanta with a team that they thought was good. Well, we made monkeys out of them and sent them home with a 20-6 defeat tucked under their shirts.

As you know, G. M. A. always has a good team. This year they had the strongest in the history of the school. They were the next to see if they could stop us. Because it was Armistice Day there was the largest crowd ever to witness a Lanier game. Every person who saw the game was thrilled to the bottom. This game was a real test for us, as we added it to our list of victories by the narrow margin of 7-6.

Confronting us now was the great Tech High. We had to play them in Atlanta and we knew our student body, which had supported us so enthusiastically in the preceding games, would not be there. However, when we ran out on the field there came a roar from the stands that shook the tin on the sign boards. Startled, we glanced at the stands and immediately recognized that "million dollar" student body from Lanier. We could have licked Notre Dame. Tech was routed. The next morning the papers stated in big letters: Lanier Swamps Tech High 20-7.

Madison A. and M. was scheduled to play us, but this game was cancelled because they would not play under the State High School rules. The Mercer Freshmen were substituted for them. A game with Mercer was thought likely to cause friction between the two schools, but the score will probably keep that down, for the contest ended in a scoreless tie.

Then came the dawn and good news. We were to play Savannah again, this time for the Championship of the Southern half of the G. I. A. A. We had pined for just one more crack at the "Geechies." There was no doubt left in Savannah after this game that we had a far superior machine. The score that Lanier will always be proud of is: Lanier, 25; Savannah, 12.

G. M. A. had won the Northern Division title. Consequently, we were scheduled to lock with them once more, this time for the Championship of the G. I. A. A. We were lucky in getting to play them in Macon. Twice each team had a chance of making the extra point and twice each team failed. We ended deadlocked, 12-12. Each of us was given a hand in the Championship by being called Co-Champions.

Captain, we placed five of our eleven stars on the all-G. I. A. A. team. They were: "Red" Rhodenhiser, halfback, Arthur Ferguson, fullback, Lang Wroton, end, "Dog" Collins, guard, and myself, center.

Every boy at Lanier thinks of you often and sends to you and yours his very best wishes for health and happiness.

Yours truly,

P. S.—Don't let the "Japs" get you.

FRED.

J. C. MCCULLOUGH . . . . . "Nip"—155 lb. End

The teams strain in their positions; the ball comes back—is adjusted quickly; a trained toe sends it high into the air directly between the uprights. Pandemonium breaks loose. Lanier is victorious over G. M. A., 7-6. Making extra points was pie for "Nip." He was a good end both on offence and defence. Nip was selected 2nd string end on the All-G. I. A. A.

HARROLD ZIMMERMAN . . . . . "Marshall"—175 lb. Tackle

"Who was that punk you birds let break up our plays all afternoon " "Why, coach, we couldn't keep him out; that was Zimmerman!" Harrold was the man that had the hardest job of all. During spring training he was converted from a guard to a tackle and soon earned a position on the varsity line. Harrold was just about to reach his prime when the season ended. Zim's loss will be grieved over.

HENRY COLLINS . . . . . "Dog"—160 lb. Guard

A blocked kick; a green jerseyed figure grabs up the ball; falls, crawls, squirms, and finally travels the remaining one-half yard for a touchdown, thus contributing six points to the final count—Lanier, 25; Savannah, 12. Henry was one of the many players who honestly loved the game. It surely was a pleasure to play next to him, for he was the best guard in the G. I. A. A. and was therefore selected for the All-Star Team. "Dog" will make some college a dependable and consistent playing guard.

MAURICE SMITH . . . . . "Skinny No. 2"—197 lb. Guard

Ask to see a dependable, steady player, and I'll show you Maurice. Maurice hurt his knee at the beginning of the season. However, this did not keep him from coming out. During scrimmages you could see him on the side lines raring to go. He was not able to play in all the games but the ones in which he did play, he made his opponents remember him. Maurice was chosen for the second team of the All-G. I. A. A. eleven.

JAMES BRYAN . . . . . "Skinny No. 1"—250 lb. Tackle

"Ouch, get off, you're breaking my leg," was what more than one opposing ball carrier cried out to Skinny. Skinny always had his opponents flinching. As you know, he weighed only 250 pounds but regardless of his weight he was fast. Many times he would get through the line and throw the opposing ball carrier for a loss, and then "ease him to the ground." Skinny is the only man on the first line who will be back next year.

LANG WROTON . . . . . "Dalrymple"—174 lb. End

The ends criss cross; the passer drops back; a long high spiral; a green-jerseyed player leaps—snatches the ball from the air; touch down! Lanier, 6; G. M. A., 6. Lang was improving in every game. Many times would he rush into the backfield of his opponents and bring down his man for a loss. Lang was a consistent player. When our opponents made a gain around his end, he would never have an alibi. Lang was chosen right end on the All-G. I. A. A. team.

ROY POOL . . . . . "Roy"—155 lb. Quarterback

It seemed the proper time for a straight line buck. However, the startling play was spinner left, a delayed play; it could never work—but it did work. Lanier scored a brilliant touchdown. Roy had the coach's and team's confidence at all times. The team in some games looked to be in a bad position, but through Roy's headwork it succeeded in getting out. Due to his excellent playing and leadership, he was elected Captain for the "32" team.

ALTON RHODENHISER . . . . . "Hockerville"—175 lb. Halfback

Lanier shakes a man into the open field. The enemy fullback is coming in hard to get him. There is a streak of green and swish, the fullbacks legs are carried from beneath him. Lanier again crosses the goal line due to "Red's" spectacular blocking ability. Red is an ideal backfield man being able to run, pass, and kick exceptionally well. For his great playing he was selected for the All-G. I. A. A. team. Red will be on hand next year.

GLOVER DIXON . . . . . "Dixon"—150 lb. Halfback

Dixon carried the ball like a basket of eggs, but he got there just the same. This year, funny to say, was his first and last year out for the varsity. After the training he received during the spring, he was off in the fall with a flash. He soon had everybody inquiring about him. Dixon was a better ball-carrier than he was a passer or kicker. His ability to run making him a valuable member of the team.

ARTHUR FERGUSON . . . . . "Ferg"—175 lb. Fullback

Championship game; score 12-6, G. M. A.; a stalwart blond haired boy receives the oval and drives with express train speed off tackle. Finding the hole blocked, he swerves around end and into the open field. He's loose. Like a startled deer he races across the goal line. Arthur was a fullback if there ever was one. Because of his brilliant playing he was selected on the All-Star Team. Lanier is losing a great football player in Ferguson.

HARVEY CRISWELL . . . . . "Harvey"—165 lb. Center

Who is that number 30 backing up that line? Why, that's Criswell. Gosh, but he hits 'em hard. The entire time Harvey has been playing center the team captain has been located at that same position. Harvey was a great player and a hard worker. He graduates in June.

EDWARD HUTHNANCE . . . . . "Hugnurtz"—150 lb. Halfback

The Mercer Frosh tried all afternoon to squelch "Hugnurtz," but he was still tying knots with them when the final whistle blew. Ed was a scrappy little player. He has another year at Lanier and should develop into a great ball player. He will be in full swing in '32, and should show his opponents a few things about how to play the game.

CHARLES HARROLD . . . . . "Charlie"—165 lb. End

Boy's Hi's ball; it's an off tackle play; the interference splits the line; a purple jersey darts into the hole. WHAM! Ooooo! groans the purple jersey. Tha's the way to hit 'em, Charlie, babe! Charlie was one of the best tacklers on the squad. Being tall and strong, he is tailor made for his position. Because he is so reliable a player, he was elected alternate captain for the '32 team.

GEORGE EDWARDS . . . . . "Scrappy"—140 lb. Halfback

A long bullet-like pass from George's trained wrist made the score Lanier, 13; Columbus, 6, so we packed up, ate, and came home. "Scrappy" is very small in stature but he is a big man while carrying the ball. He gets his name "Scrappy" from the fact that he is such a scrapper. George will be one of the main threats next year.

DOUGLAS FINCHER . . . . . "Dude"—150 lb. Tackle

"Time out, Fincher bit his tongue." Dude kept the tackles on the first team worried all the time by his excellent playing. He would have been a regular but lack of experience and weight kept him back. He will be seen as a regular next year and ought to be of great service to his team.

ROBERT REAGAN . . . . . "Whoshot"—145 lb. Guard

It was in the second quarter of the 1st G. M. A. game. Smith hurt his knee. "Reagan," snapped the coach. "Yes, Sir," cried Reagan, leaping to the coach's side. "Go in there for Smith." Reagan hit the ground twice between there and the huddle. Robert was the only substitute guard to make a letter. He is small but he is one of the fastest men on the team. He will be in togs again next year.

FRED BLACK . . . . . "Possom"—170 lb. Center

Fourth down 2 to go; our opponents' ball—Signals, 45, 23, 34 hike, they're sweeping around end; with a crash the ball carrier goes down under the impact of a terrific tackle; an Orange and Green jerseyed No. 1 rises grinning from his crest-fallen foe. Here we have Fred, always fighting, always grinning, ever shouting encouragement to his weary team-mates about him. Fred is perfectly at home on the grid iron, being able to hold down practically every position on the team. As a center, however, he won his spurs. Making the All-G. I. A. A. mythical eleven as center and Captain was not hard for Possom; he loves the game.

Editor's Note:—Possom tried to get away with just signing his name to these caricatures, but I fooled him, I did. Just before this went to press, I slipped in this account of him, and he's just now finding it out. Give up, Possom, I made a monkey out of you. A. R.

Soccer

The Juniors (what-a-team!) won the never-to-be-forgotten soccer tournament. But they had to fight for it as the following scores show:

Sophomores, 1 ..... Juniors, 2

Juniors, 3 ..... Seniors, 2

Seniors, 2 ..... Sophomores, 0

Seniors, 1 ..... Juniors, 1

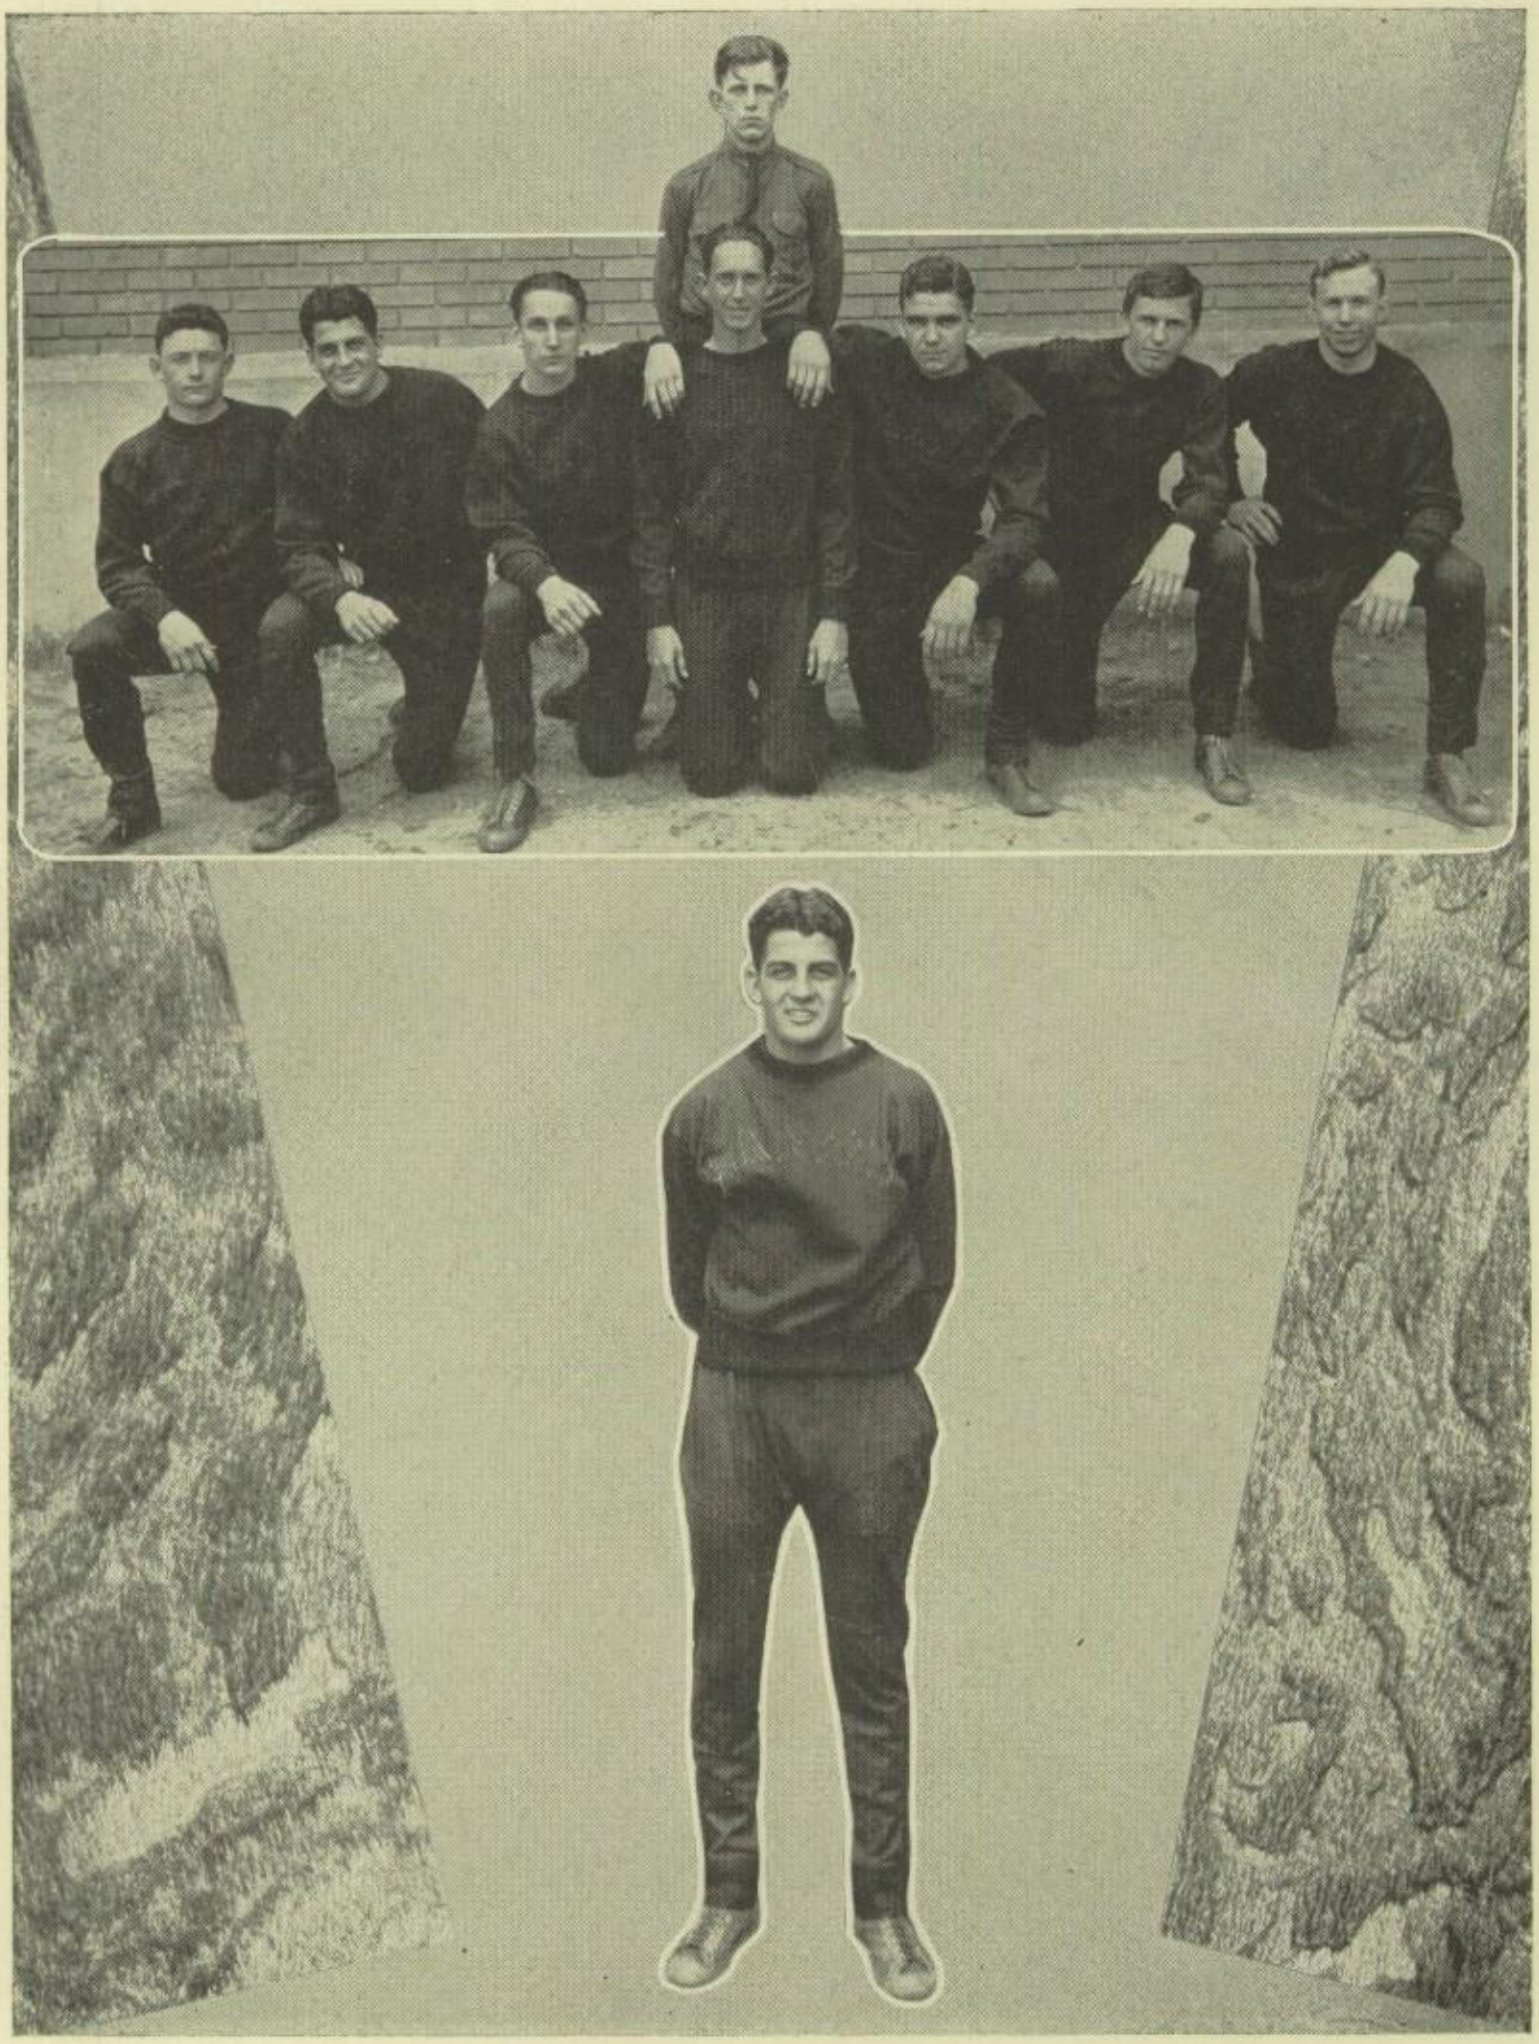
Seniors, 1 ..... Juniors, 2

That really was a tournament! Yeah, forty of 'em! This, you know was the first year we have had soccer. Much of the credit for its popularity goes to Miss Polly Wadley who struggled with us when we were first learning to play.

Outstanding players of the soccer teams were: Ouida Brewer, Marcelle Hicks, Peggy O'Neal, Tillie Lott, Walton Bowen, Katherine Kilpatrick, Elizabeth Lewis, Amy Slocum, and Jo Riley. On playing off a tie, the Juniors stopped the dignified Seniors by a 2-1 score, probably making every Junior feel just as important as any Senior.

P. S.—"Tootsie" Weddington thinks the object of the game is to "sock 'er before she socks you." And, strange to relate, that seems to be just about right!

Basketball



BASKETBALL TEAM AND CAPTAIN

Basketball

Due to the long season of Football, Lanier got off to a late start in Basketball. The few letter men and several prospects who were not on the varsity Football team, had been shooting at the basket about two weeks before the men from the turf had exchanged their togs for shorts. Having won the G. I. A. A. in football, the team was then out for it again in Basketball.

The team and Coaches (Mr. Buck and Mr. Anderson) realizing they didn't have many days before the first game soon had the team down to earnest training.

The first game on the Poets schedule was with Boy's High of Atlanta. When the curtain was drawn that Friday night everybody who was present, said Lanier would wear the Basketball Crown surely. Lanier, winning their opening game, was off to a good start.

Well, after that first night something happened to the team and nobody has been able to solve it yet.

The team went on down—the list on the schedule—and down in the way of playing also, and was getting beat game after game. Finally the coaches decided to take into their system of play, a new method of attack. Their method was a slow breaking offense and working plays from the set-up, but still the team couldn't win, as it was capable of doing. Mr. Buck thought if the team could win just one game it would obtain confidence and keep on winning. He scheduled Gordon High School thinking they would be the team to give them confidence. The team left one Friday afternoon for Gordon and came back that night defeated, Gordon had a better team than was expected.

Gordon didn't give Lanier any confidence, but it gave something I think was better, it was "fight." The team was disgusted with themselves and decided to turn over a new leaf and win some ball games. The results were they did play a better brand of ball.

Mr. Buck soon decided that the slow offense and the set-up plays were not working, so they were discarded and the team took back their old type of offense—the "Fast Break."

Lanier was given another crack at Gordon. This time Gordon was to play in Macon. Some time during the week before the game, the team was called together after school and was given a heart-to-heart talk by the team Captain and other members.

This meeting was thought to have done good, for Lanier completely out-classed and out-fought Gordon to win by a large score. In this game it was proved that Lanier had the "stuff", but just couldn't get the "stuff" going.

Charlie Harold and Ralph Buice, our tall and lanky centers, would constantly get the tip from Lanier's opposing center, and Lanier's forwards, Pool, Troutman, and Wroton would gain control of the ball and then Lanier would lose the ball to the opponents under the goal, which would cause many "aw's" from Lanier's supporters. Captain Talbird, guard, would bring Lanier from behind many times by sinking a long field goal, but Lanier couldn't keep the lead. The other guards were Cecil Smith, Fred Black, and "Jazz" Rogers. Smith was an excellent shot from the center of the floor. He surprised the fans and opponents many times by his long shots. "Jazz" Rogers also has a good eye for the basket and will be seen in action next year.

Lanier seemed to get going just before the Tournament, defeating G. M. A., their first opponent by a small score and advancing to the finals by beating Benedictine. Lanier met their old rival, Savannah, for the Championship. Savannah, being on their home floor could not be beaten; so Lanier had to bow to them for the third consecutive time for the Championship.

There is no reason whatsoever for the team to be down-hearted, for they made a remarkable showing. Lanier, as everybody knows, has no bad record in Basketball. When a high school can place three out of five players on two of the outstanding college teams in Georgia, you know that that school, Lanier, must always have a good basketball team.

LETTER MEN

PHELPS TALBIRD . . . . . (Guard)

Cheers always greeted Mutt when he entered the game. Famous for his mid court shots and brilliant floor work, Mutt led his team through disaster and glory with that winning smile of his. Look for Talbird's name in th line-up next year.

CECIL SMITH . . . . . (Guard)

When Cecil squatted, his opponents learned to add two points to Lanier's score. A suple and skillful player was Cecil. Because of his worth and leadership he was elected Captain of the '33 team.

FRED BLACK . . . . . (Guard) By A. P. R.

Possom, of football and baseball fame, is also a veteran basketball player. By dent of his capable guarding and ability to handle the ball, Possom held a regular berth on the varsity. Fred leaves a big gap to be filled next year.

ROY POOL . . . . . (Forward)

Roy is fast and can handle a basketball. He is a hard man to guard; therefore he was high point man in practically every game. He'll be looping them next year, too.

WALTER TROUTMAN . . . . . (Forward)

Troutman, when things looked bad, would bring out that field goal that he had been saving all during the game. Trout was always good at tipping the ball in the goal, scoring many points in this way. He will be back.

LANG WROTON . . . . . (Forward)

Lang is ever striving for improvement. By perseverance and continuous training he is molding himself into an athlete of note. No boy on the basketball court tried harder than Lang. He graduates in June.

CHARLIE HARROLD . . . . . (Center)

Charlie is the guy who started many a beautiful play by jumping high and getting the tip. Charlie should be one of the main cogs in the machine next season; watch his smoke.

RALPH BUICE . . . . . (Center)

Ralph could be placed at any position on the team and be depended on to turn in a good game. He played on the varsity for four years, and each year he was a valuable man. Lanier is losing a great player in Buice.

Seniors Win Basketball Championship

This year's basketball tournament was the most interesting in the history of the Senior Class. What made it so unusually interesting was the night games. For years we have wanted to play basketball at night and much credit goes to Amy Slocum, who was really responsible for this.

In the first round, the juniors played the Sophs, and after a hard battle our jolly juniors lost by the thrilling score of 13-12. But the sophs just couldn't withstand the attack of the seniors, and came out on the short end of the score, 27-9. The seniors were again victors when they downed the juniors 21-13.

The next contest took place between the juniors and sophomores. This time the juniors staged a comeback winning 16-12.

The night games did much to boost interest. In the first game the Seniors encountered the juniors in a hard-fought battle. Several times the juniors threatened to pass their upper-classmen, but were finally subdued by the score 20-15.

On Saturday night the sophs again tried their strength against that of the seniors. The first half of this game was the most thrilling and gripping of the entire contest. At the end of the quarter the sophs were in the lead. This was the only time that the opponents led the seniors during the entire tournament. The two ran neck and neck in the second quarter, but after the half, the senior forwards rang goals almost at will. The game ended with the one-sided score of 45-25, in favor of the seniors.

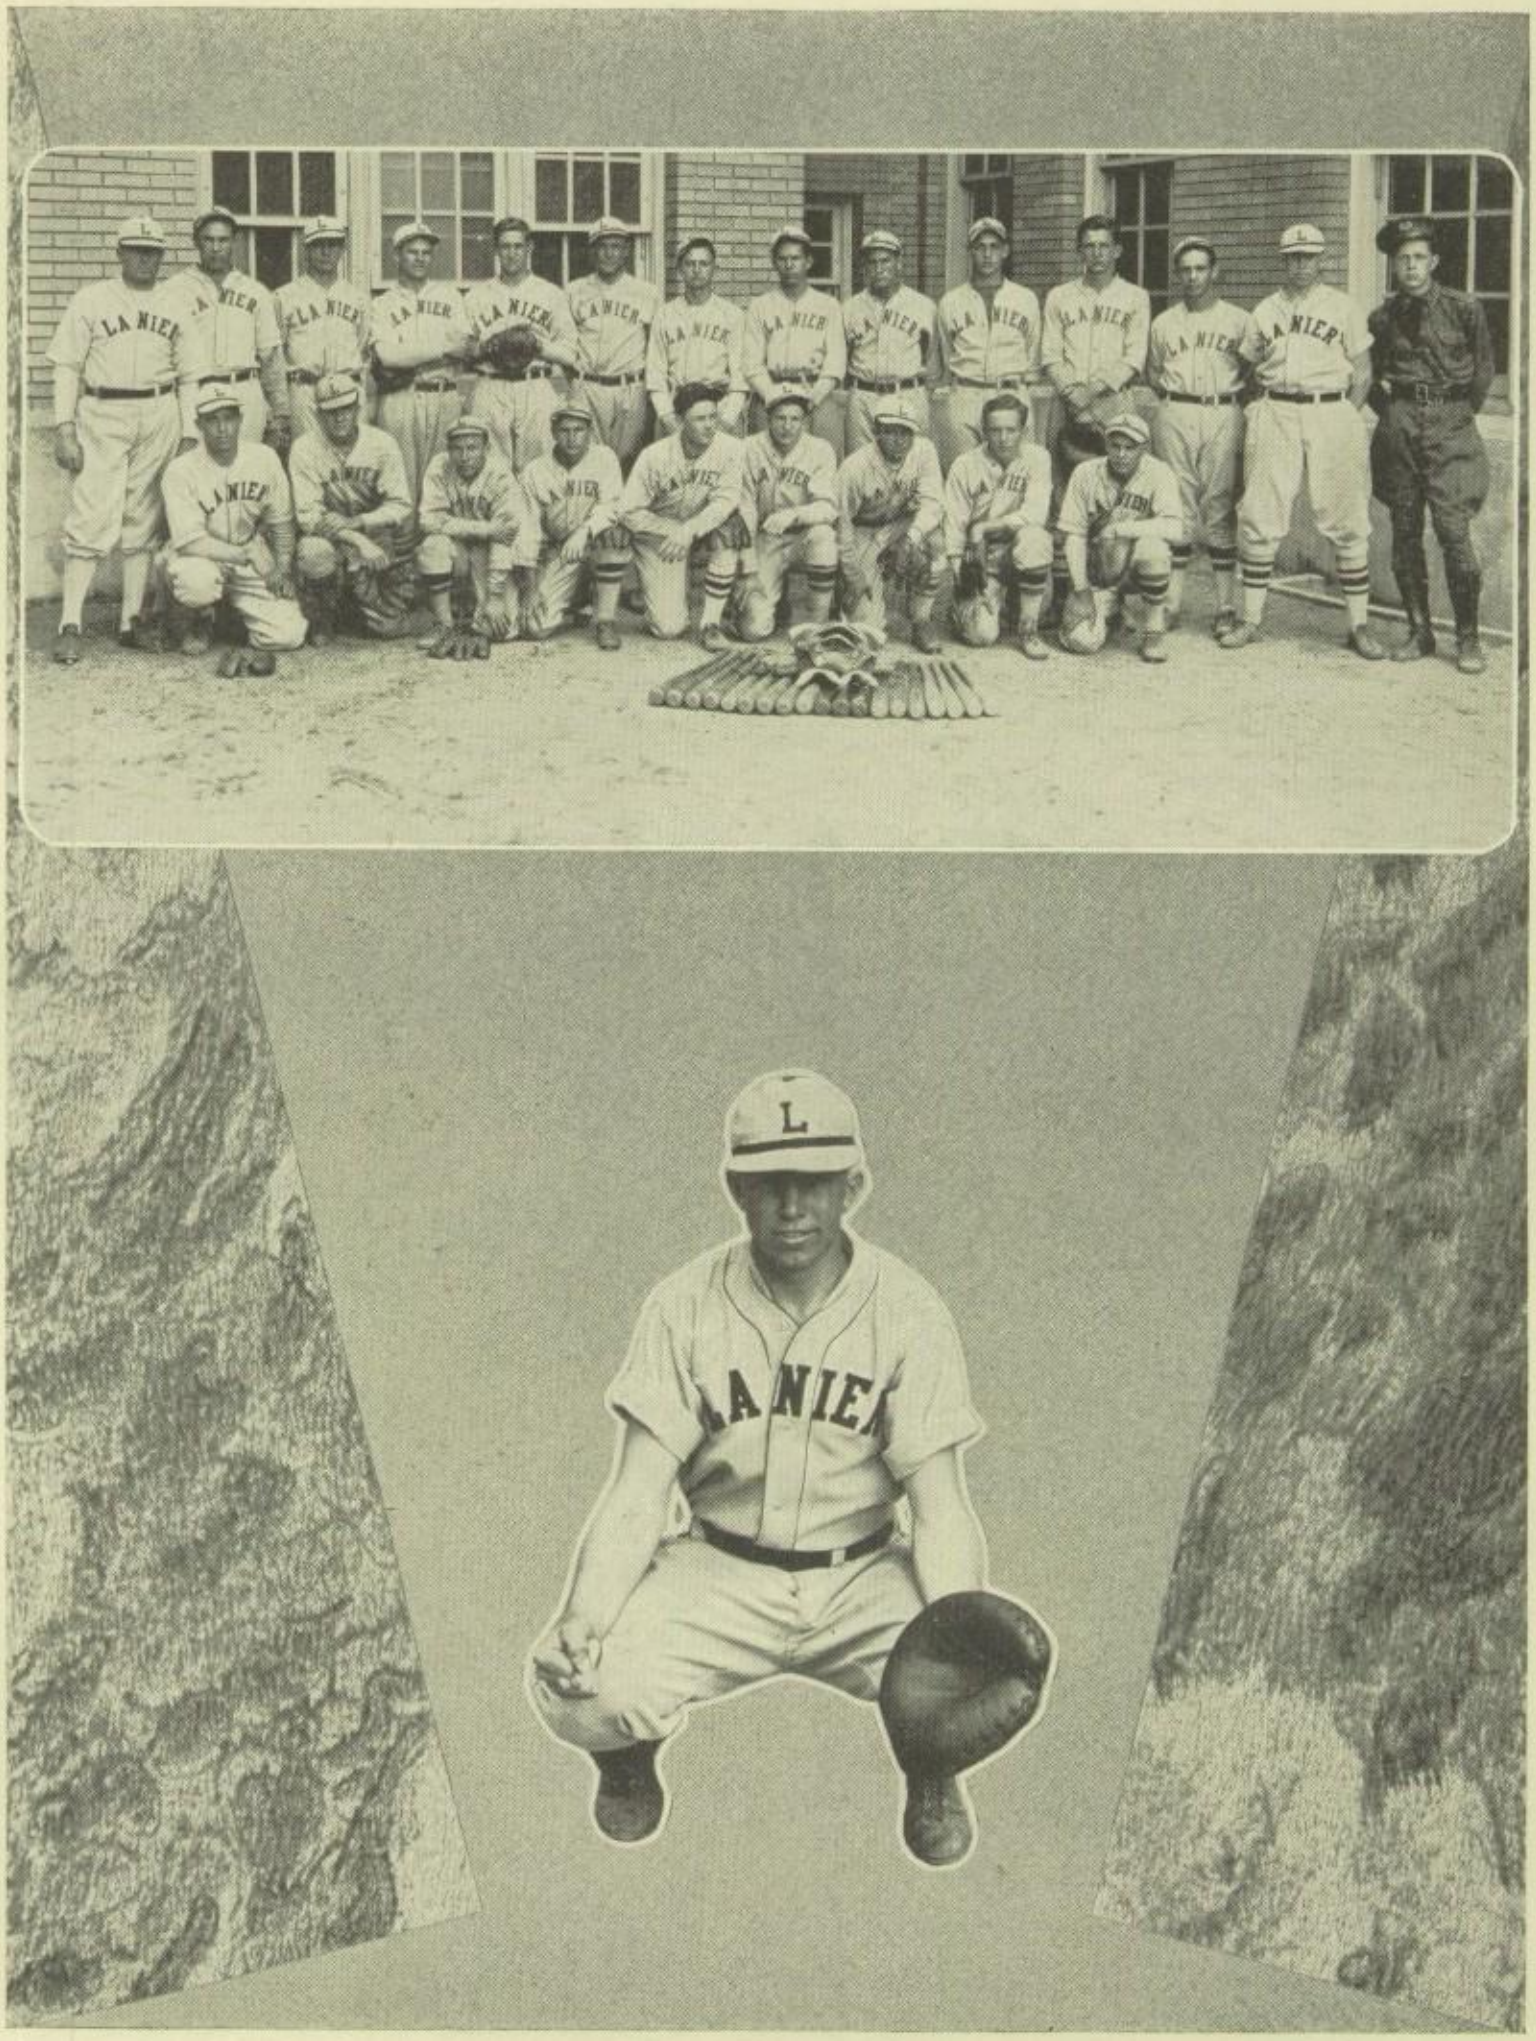
Baseball



BASEBALL TEAM AND CAPTAIN

Baseball

We love the sounds, "CRACK" which are caused by a bat coming in contact with a horse-hide cover, "Throw't home," which comes from a youth who wishes to tag an opponent who is racing down the third base line, "Atta Boy" which comes from a fellow when his playmate had just made beautiful play, and by them we realize that spring is "sprung" and that "old man summer" is just around the corner.

Mr. Buck, Lanier's scout and coach, called several rookies in from the "farm"—the American Legion Team, to fill the shoes left by men who graduated last June. Those coming from the farm are: Tommy Clark, field, Joe Lewis, third baseman, Howard McGaughey, Alva Layfield, and Gene Morrow, pitchers, Dick Hearn, first baseman, W. C. McGaughey, catcher, and Floyd Busbee, second baseman.

Other rookies who landed major uniforms are: Robert Moore, and Ed Jones, catchers, Mutt Talbird, third baseman, Geo. Smith, short stop, Cecil Smith, Lang Wroton and Minter McKenna, field. The old hands who will be on deck again this year are J. C. McCullough, Roy Pool, Roy Bethune, A. G. Persons, Joe Adams, and Fred Black.

Lanier started its season by defeating the Aggies from Barnesville A. & M. This game after going thirteen innings, was finally won by Lanier, the score being five to four.

Lanier was defeated by the Mercer All-Stars, the score being 7-4. Howard McGaughey, Lanier's pitcher, allowed five hits in the first two innings, which gave Mercer a lead that was never threatened. Lanier went five innings without a hit, then Ed Jones tapped a single. Roy Pool also singled. In the next inning Pool hit a home run with one on and things began to get hot, but Mercer continued to hit, so Lanier never got within striking distance.

The faculty team, which plays the varsity every year, was composed of heavy hitters and excellent fielders. They managed to nose out a 13-11 victory in the tenth inning. Lem Clark, faculty pitcher, and Roy Dwyer, high-powered catcher, kept the varsity bumfuzzled with fast balls and a lot of big talk. "S. K." and "Duck" held down their sacks with a vim. Mosely, Wommack, Dorsey, and Gignilliatt looked good in the field. McCullough held the mound for the varsity with Ed Jones behind the plate. Despite the fact that Lanier has lost two early games, we may still develop into a great team, for most of the players, as you know are rookies and naturally slow to get started. Under the splendid coaching of Mr. Buck, Marion Anderson, and Lem Clark, Lanier's baseball team will be heard from yet.

COMPANY BASEBALL

Company D and Company C, as in football, locked horns for the baseball crown. It was a tight game, nevertheless D Company held a jinx over C Company; so they opened the bag and out flew Mr. Jinx. D won the game and the baseball title; but small wonder for A. G. Persons, Roy Bethune, Ed Jones, and Tom Clark were all members of the D outfit. The other players on the Champion squad were: Bazemore, Moulton, Ellison, Almond, Matthews, Dorsey, Deas, Cumbie, Sandefur, Caldwell, Tamplin, Roddenberry, and Baggerly. Ed Graham captained the company.

MY SHADOW

Why don't you talk to me
You never smile, or laugh or frown.
Are you sad or lonely, your eyes are always down;
You seem tho on a moonlight night like this
To dream and wonder while we smoke in silent bliss.
I never know you are near until I seek lonesome retreat.
Gee, what a pal you would make so dear,
But you're just a shadow at my feet.

J. Carver Hunt.

FAREWELL

With June there comes a parting,
  Our high school days are thru,
Our voices in the high school halls
  Echo in sad adieu.

We'll ne'er forget the friendships
  We made in these five years;
Tho' we may walk in different paths,
  We'll recall them all in tears.

When in life's calms and dark'ning storms,
  Or drifting with the tide,
We'll fight our best, with vim and zest,
  With spirits true and tried.

E'er in our minds we'll recall the joys,
  Whether happiness goes or stays,
Remember the fun and sports we won
  In the good old high school days.

Elva Roby.

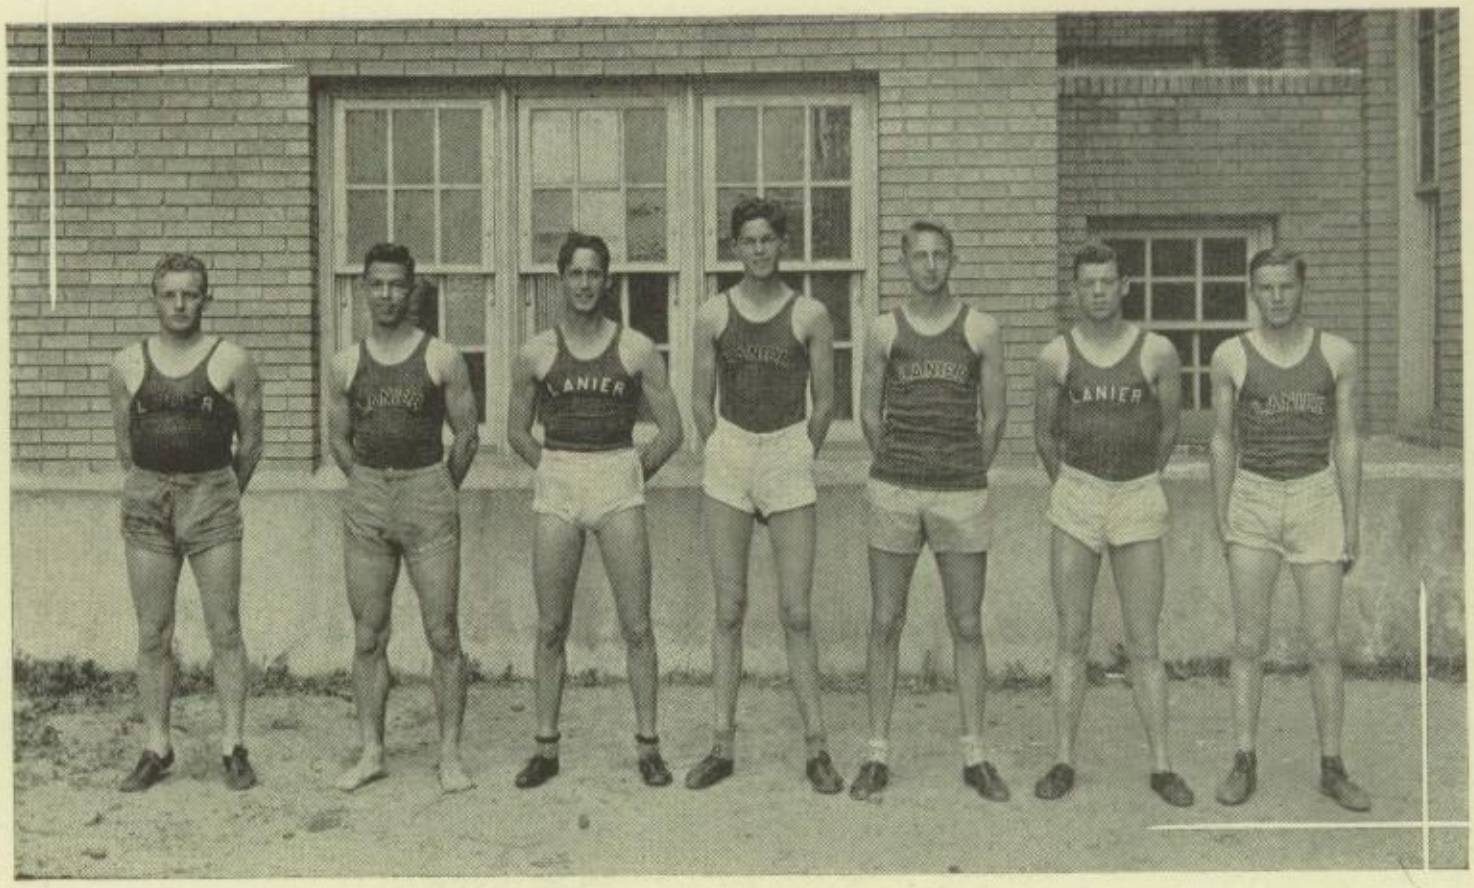
Track



Ferguson, Wroton, Buice, Farren, Barron, Burns, Ellison.

Track

Lanier, for many years, has not emphasized track, setting aside only one day a year for an intermural meet. This year, however, a varsity track team was moulded roughly together by Mr. Marion Anderson and Mr. Buck Anderson who sounded the call for track about the 1st of March. A number of aspirants reported and training began.

Each week a track meet was held. This served to stimulate interest and provide real competition among the boys, for the winner had to do his stuff in order to be a winner. At the end of the intermural track meets the coaches named the following boys to comprise the varsity: Ralph Buice, broad jump and high jump, Arthur Ferguson, one hundred yard dash, 220 yard dash and relay, "Skinny" Barron for the four forty, Jack Farren for the low hurdles, Lang Wroten for shotput and discus throw while J. C. Burns, Red Rhodenhiser, Red Ellison, and Arthur Ferguson composed the Relay Team.

In the G. I. A. A. track meet, held in Atlanta, Lanier placed fourth, which record is very gratifying, as this is the school's first track team in several years. The following boys placed: Lang Wroten, third in the Shotput, Ralph Buice, third in the Broad Jump, Skinny Barron, second in the four forty, and Arthur Ferguson, third in the 100 yard dash.

Lanier in the future ought to have a great team for the cinders as splendid form was shown by the underclassmen in the intermural meets. Reagan, George Edwards, Farren, Lumpkin, Troutman, Hunnicutt, Ellison, Rhodenhiser, Burns, Roddenberry, and Morrow, along with many others, will all be back next year and should be able to build up a first rate cinder squad.

Intermural Track

R. O. T. C. TRACK MEET

Company C carried off the track meet by dent of the ability of their star cinderman, Ralph Buice, who along with Maurice Smith, Rogers, Burns, and Zeigler, totaled up 27½ points, which was ½ point better than 2nd place. Captain Smith scored the ½ point. A summary follows:

50-yard Dash—Barron, (5.5 sec.) Ferguson, Ellison.
100-yard Dash—Ferguson (10.5) Ellison, Burns.
220-yard Dash—Barron (23.7) Ellison, Burns.
Running High Jump—Buice (5.4) Alexander, Burns and Zeigler.
Running Broad Jump—Buice (18 ft. 6 in.) Maerz, Ferguson, and Brewer.
Shot Put—Lumpkin (40 ft. ½ in.) Rogers, Reichert.
Discus Throw—Reichert (97 ft.) Lumpkin, Buice.
Javelin—Buice (130 ft.) Powell, Hall and Smith, M.
Pole Vault—Morrow (8 ft. 8 in.) Brewer and Maerz and Skinner.
Relay—Staff—Barron, Criswell, Reichert (50.5).

NON R. O. T. C. TRACK MEET

Headed by the dexterous Oliver Hunnicutt, who captured 5 first places, Company E's track team, Brown, Jones, Moody, Vickery, and Skinner, left their opponents in the dust.

A summary follows:

50-yard Dash—Hunnicutt (5.8 sec.) Brown, Steppe.
100-Yard Dash—Hunnicutt (11.2 sec.) Brown, Miller.
220-yard Dash—Hunnicutt (25.3 sec.) Vickery, Lashley.
Running Broad Jump—Hunnicutt (18 ft.) Brown, Smalling.
Running High Jump—Smalling (5 ft.) Hunnicutt.
Shot Put—Jones (34 ft.) Moody, Brown.
Discus Throw—Reid (70 ft.) Hunnicutt, Smalling.
Javelin Throw—Hunnicutt (89 ft.) Steepe.
Pole Vault—Hamlin (7 ft. 6 in.) Skinner, Vickery.
Relay—E Company—Hunnicutt, Brown, Vickery (58 sec.)

SUPERVISION TRACK MEET (A)

With O'Cain, Mearz, McKenna, and Malone doing some excellent cinder work, Supervision 313 carried off all the honors of the day. O'Cain took 2 first places, the 50, and the 100 yard dash, while Maerz won the shot put and pole vault.

A summary follows:

50-yard Dash—O'Cain (6.3) McKenna, Hawkins.

SUPERVISION TRACK MEET (B)

Supervision 102's track team, Nixon, Marshall, McCaskell and Kelley, succeeded in out-pointing their opponents to win the meet. Though not in the winning supervision, Alfred Lowe and Tom Brooks performed in a commendable manner, each placing in a number of events. Lowe took first place in the 100-yard dash and broad jump, while Brooks won the football throw. These boys will make Lanier a great track team some day. A summary follows:

50-yard Dash—Nixon (6.5) Lowe, McKay.
100-yard Dash—Lowe (12.1) Nixon, McKay.
Relay—102—McCaskell, Marshall, Kelley, Nixon (63 in.)
Running High Jump—Kelley (4 ft. 7½ in.) Lowe, McCaskell and McKay.
Running Broad Jump—Lowe (14 ft. 4 in.) Kelley, Stewart.
Football Throw—Brooks (105 ft. 3 in.) Lowe, Bliss.
Basketball Throw—McCaskell (223 ft. 1 in.) Brooks, Lowe.

SUPERVISION BASKETBALL

Professor Tanner's hard fighting team captured the basketball title of the Supervision league by defeating 105 in a final play-off. Headed by McCullough, their brilliant captain, and such cagey players as Dixon, Chew, and Mueller, 211 had improved rapidly and when they faced the Championship game, they were a smooth working aggregation. The other members of the squad who made possible the Championship were "Skinny" Barron, Ed Bernd, Robert Jones, and Sam Pell.

COMPANY FOOTBALL (R. O. T. C.)

The D aggregation was hard to stop, Roddenberry, Ellison, Moulton, and Cumbie formed an experienced and versatile backfield, while Ed Jones and Tom Clark at ends, Gordon Bazemore at guard made the line a tough place for opposing backs. Eubanks, Caldwell, Sandefur, Baggerly, Deas, Almond, Lowe, Daughtry, Crook, Tamplin, and Bazemore, C completed the D lineup and by their savage blocking and tackling led their company to a Championship in football. The team was coached by Arthur Ferguson, All G. I. A. A. back; Ed Graham is Captain of the company.

COMPANY FOOTBALL (NON R. O. T. C.)

Company E's backfield: Hunnicutt, Phillips, Brooks, and Pearre had both power and speed, while their line was tough and rugged. With Albert Smith at end, Cecil Brown end tackle, and Howard McGaughey and Moody at guards, the line was bound to be savage. Fitzpatrick pluged center with a vim, while Johnson, and Massey always turned in a good game. These stalwarts along with Lee, McGaughey, J. Brazzeal, and Malone were the Champions who never had their goal line crossed. Harrell Zimmerman, last year's varsity tackle, was the coach. Earle Carter was Captain of the Company.

"Mrs. Pembroke's Necklace" was one of the most interesting and comical plays ever given by the dignified Seniors. All of the cast played well. Some of them, Thwaite, Haskins, and Barfield showed real acting ability.

George Howell tried to collect a few love letters written by Ned Pembroke to Vera Vernon. In a train wreck, he swaps suit cases with a crook, who has stolen Mrs. Pembroke's necklace. After many exciting events the letters and necklace were returned to their original owners.

On this occasion, the orchestra, directed by Prof. W. J. Marshall, furnished entertainment between the acts and added materially to the performance. Jack Lowe gave a solo on the accordion that was enjoyed by all.

The Seniors aided the school in many ways by buying sabres for the officers with the returns from this play.

"Seven Days," the second presentation of the Dramatic Club, was one of the most successful and entertaining plays ever given at Lanier. The settings departed from the usual single one and added to the interior, a kitchen scene and a roof garden.

In the play, Aunt Selina arrived unexpectedly at James Wilson's who was a very fat man. Wilson had been divorced and the aunt, who supported him, must not know this. Kit McNair pretends to be his wife. An old friend of Kit's appeared and then the ex-wife dropped in. When this pleasant crowd was gathered in the house, along with a policeman and a burglar, a quarantine was declared over the house because the cook had the small-pox.

The second act was in the kitchen the following morning. It was filled with laughs showing how Aunt Selina divided the work among them and the attempts at cooking breakfast. Harbison prepared a fine omelet, but Kit did not prove to be as good a cook as he. The result was a gooey substance.

Seven days later the scene shifted to the roof garden. There, after the shooting of the reporters, the eating of the bridesmaid, psychic telephones, and the like, the play ended. The burglar denounces them all to Aunt Selina just as they are notified that the quarantine had been lifted—the cook only had chicken-pox.

OUR DAZZLING SCHOOL

In the beginning there was a terrific glare at Miller High School, and as time passes, the glare remains and girls continue to develop "pink-eye" which is not very becoming to some of our "red-heads." We blonds and brunetts do not especially mind the color of this infection, but the glare itself is rather inconvenient. We have all searched and searched for a remedy for this, but no plan so far has proved successful. Some conflict appears in every one. We might plant shade trees of course, but by the time they grow enough to be useful to the first floor only, we will be away from here (we hope). We might try bribing one of our teachers into giving the sun a dark look, but as money is scarce these days, this would be a hard job. Perhaps getting rid of some of our bright pupils would be a good plan but we could not bear to lose so many of our friends. Why not try taking in the sun and hanging out the moon? Would we not be overstepping our bounds? This is a school of knowledge of books, not of moonlight. All the girls might wear black goggles, but then they would not be able to see the boys on the steps in the mornings, and it would prove tiring to have to snatch off our "specks" everytime we heard a car pass by. We might hire airplanes to spread smoke screens about us so we might study in the fog. How could we hire when there is nothing with which to hire? Indeed this is a problem. There seems to be no better plan, as this is a time of depression, than turning our high school into a medical school and giving sun ray treatments.

Editor's Note:

This final book of the Miller-Lanier is created to resemble (in some fashion) the monthly publication of our schools, in order that we may be brought to remember or reminisce the fun and enjoyment we obtained from the Cloverleaf which we ourselves named and brought into existence. We hope you like this novel arrangement.

Supervision News—Girls

Supervision 201 has won the coveted prize for attendance! How did we do it? By always being here, rain or shine, hot or cold. A loyal group we are—a very loyal group!

Who inspired us? The best teacher in the world, our own dear "Lady Mitchell."

Is it worth it? Sure, it is. By always being here we have learned lots from books and won a prize, too. Follow our example and try it next time—it pays!

MISS BUSH'S SUPERVISION

Betty Alexander is first in our mind,
A better "sup" president we never could find.

Sarah Wheeler, "student councilor," more memory does need,
For oft to those meetings her feet fail to lead.

Quite talented is our own Erin Clarke,
Original, happy, carefree as a lark.

Nancy and Louise Hicks, our twins are very dear,
No matter what we're doing, their voices we can hear!

Often to be found on the "Honor Roll Rack"
Are Jackson and Thompson, and Spires, and Mack.

And always on the sideline is jolly Miss Bush
To render assistance and give us a push.

RUTH CHENEY.

205—Did Platt get her "specs" at that auction sale she attended? Odom and Napier weren't fighting in the gym, only tussling over a clean uniform. Helen Davis's G. M. A. friend has a past! Mr. Pulliam wonders what Walker and Weaver talk about every day. The King twins have recovered from the mumps. Stewart M. D. was absent April 28. Sad, but true, Vinson and Alfriend are "nerts" (over horse-back riding). Relief! Nan Roberts is back from a short visit to Milledgeville. What's this? Bragg didn't see the Tech friend March 5.

8—Luckily we are informed of the happenings in our school, even to the romances by news reporters: Kelly, M. L.; Lawson, S.; Stuckey, A.; Roberts, K.

Those occasionally visiting us before school and relating early morning events are Branch, A.; Cochran, R.; Campbell, M.; Golsby, B.; Ray, L.; and McCook, J.

Once in a while the inspiration strikes Raines, H.; Jennings, D.; Grenshaw, M.; and Grace, G., to study. Cupid has pierced the hearts of Josephine Happ, Mary Winship, and Carolyn Feagin.

Hazel Raines receives special mention for sitting on her bugle when chairs are lacking.

Jones, H.; Happ, J.; Grayson, R.

We, 103, are going to miss Miss Marie when we leave, but there's one thing certain, we won't ever forget her. She's been sympathetic, understanding, and dear to us Seniors. We are also proud of our four faithful officers: Geraldine Garrett, Pres.; Grace Belmont, Vice-President; Margaret Hooks, Secretary; and Natalie Johstono, Vice-Sec. Although Gerry was voted smartest with application and is the president of the Senior class, she neither frowns nor wears glasses.

209—Wonders never cease! Despite such "10 o'clock scholars" as Sigman and Bell and such "hit-and-miss" members as Bateman, Dumas and Burkett, we, supervision 209, have made a perfect attendance record. Flores and Norris haven't been absent or tardy this year. Sappington and Perryman are ardent geometry pupils before school when they can persuade Livingston and Rogers to stop talking. How smooth Lumpkin's make-up is after school (she races for Holt's compact last supervision).

Supervision News—Boys

204—Having now reached the mature age of one year according to the Lanier calendar, we, the sub-freshmen of 204 proudly review our achievements. With Roy Massey captain of our basketball team, we gained experience if not high standing in the league. Perhaps where we shine brightest is in scholastics; we led the entire year. McMillen, Barfield, and Matthews have made it every month.—Matthews, J.

207—Supervision 207 has had a very successful year. In studies, attendance conduct, and sports we are justly proud of our record. Williams and Shi won the Anti-hoarding and Gordon essays respectively. Miss Florence's Little Rabbits have had a fine year and appreciate her co-operation.—Fitzpatrick, M.

108—In basketball, 108 with Argo as captain and Brooks alternate captain, was in the upper half of the league. In the junior track meet, we came third with the aid of Brooks, McKay, Gillon, and Sheridan. The brains of our outfit were Adams, Rickenbaker, Lee, and Hall—Hall, C.

403—Mr. E. O. Clark's supervision had the largest percent of boys passing in all subjects, being on time, and being present in the entire school from September to February. Five boys made the honor roll during this term. Our team, with Kirkland as captain, won the majority of its basketball games. We have been enthusiastic depositors in the Thrift Bank, and subscribers to the Cloverleaf and Miller-Lanier.

304—Of forty-one enrolled in 304, thirty-six appear to be completing the year. The basketball team won all but two games. Officials in 304 are: Dudley, bank director; Webb, Cloverleaf reporter; Cumbie, basketball captain; Webb, in charge of roll. During the year Howard and Young have a perfect attendance record to date.

309—In athletics, Morrow was 309's outstanding representative, while Teasley made the Sub-Football team. Struby and Menard made the honor roll every month, while Haskins and Moore made it once. Teasley was our bank director and Menard and Ramey were our debators.—Menard, A.

301—Our supervision is a swell one. In fact, we won this space for something or other. Supervision 301 has some good fellows. There are Doc. Joe, who teaches some kind of science, Popper, H., who claims he can play football, Williams, R., and Hadarits, E., who are stars on the chess team; and last (he isn't least), Chatfield, B., the future Grantland Rice. We have numerous others, but space is so small.—Pendleton, E.

408—When football started in September, Supervision 408 was well represented. Miller, Ellison, Wright, Gilleland, Eubanks, and Ed Jones (alias Mr. Hyde) were out. 408 put a fine team on the basketball court. Domingos made the boxing team; Miller and Defore the honor roll. Thomas was bank director. Mabry, Gilleland and Miller debated. Scat my cats, the bell! Run, Mr. Ward swings a wicked paddle.—Patterson, G.

211—When school opened, 211 had her share of military honors from sergeants to the Lieutenant Colonel. Football season came and went with four of our boys receiving letters. Three cheers for our basketball team. McCullough leading them, not only were they senior champs but also school champs. Aside from athletics, the scholastic record has been high. Pell, S. was first Honor Graduate for February and Howard, Thwaite, Hudson, and Leonard were our honor roll students.—Blum, L.

314—We have completed our last year at Lanier. It makes us sad to leave our teachers, especially our beloved and efficient supervisor, Mr. Lewis. We were represented on all teams. In military we were fortunate in having many officers. Roberts, Murphey, Massee, Murry, and Edenfield have made the honor roll consistently. We subscribed 100 per cent. for the Cloverleaf.—Carter, E.

Travel Talk—Girls

On May 1, 1952, Pat and I hopped out of our small monoplane and rushed wildly into the office of our boss, who incidentally was Geraldine Garrett, owner of the Macon Herald.

"Here you are!" we called. "Here's the dope on the reunion of the 1932 class."

"Back so soon?" she asked. "How'd you find things?"

"It was simply gorgeous!" laughed Pat. "You know Etta Chapman turned over her entire estate to them. It is an exact replica of an old southern plantation and furnished divinely."

"Everybody there," I broke in, "was in the most exquisite costumes. We seemed carried back to the time of courtly ladies, gallant gentlemen, 'n duels—you know."

"Yes, I know and that's enough of that," snapped Geraldine. "You can write that up any way you wish in your society columns. What I'm interested in is the people. Who from the '32 class were there?"

"Loads," I answered. "I'll start and let Pat finish."

"The first person I saw was Katherine Evans. She married the president of one of our big national banks, and is very happy.

"Then, there were Amy Slocum and Gertrude Smith. They have an exclusive interior decorating shop.

"Frances Floyd, who is a successful director in Hollywood, was the only one of the cast of our senior play present. But she told me all about the rest. Constance Dinkler and Peggy O'Neal have taken the place of Laurel and Hardy on the screen. Nelma Ely and Frances Swails are comedians on the Chicago stage. Frances' lines, 'You needn't shout—I'm not deaf!' have become the 'To be or not to be' of this era. Frances Estes and Virginia Ezell are making personal appearances throughout the United States. Virginia Ezell and Josephine Riley are partners in 'We Transform Your Hair' Company and specialize in topees and goatees.

"West Jones does fairy dances for the benefit of 'The Old Men's Home.'

"Elizabeth Carpenter, Dot Isaacs, Maybelle Moseley, and Betty Feagin were not there. They are missionaries on the Fiji Islands and could not make it.

"Ruth Jones owns an adorable shop in Hihira. Ellen Boyd is her buyer and Louise Brown is head designer. She has as mannequins, Grace Belmont, Elaine Gillon, Jacqueline Chambers, Virginia Thomson, and Louise Williams.

"Edna Crimmins owns a cross-the-country fleet of Austins, which are putting the big bus lines into bankruptcy.

"Dolores Pierce has won innumerable beauty contests. She is to be 'Miss Peanut' in the big international nut concern contest.

"Zoe Rozar is the most distinguished personage of the day in her line. She rides every year in the Kentucky derby.

"Hazel Birch is still in mourning over the ill fate of 'Pedro.'

"Mary Crook, Velma Vaughn, and Natalie Johstono have taken up yodeling. They have just returned from Switzerland where they acquired the latest craze in yodels.

"Jessie and Willie Wasdin do a tap dance specialty in that famous night club, 'The Silver Slipper.'

"Nellie Saliba has reached great heights by her dramatic acting.

"Mary Ellen Moore owns a private school. The lowest mark she will tolerate is B+.

"Frances Brooks' latest novel, 'Scarlet Lives,' is sensational.

"Lucile Bloodworth is sure to be our next Mayor.

"Sarah Martin has a noted jazz orchestra. Playing with her are Corinne Deal, Erma Fincher, and Elizabeth Gledhill. Jule Wayne has made a name for herself in it with her Mammy songs.

"Edna Zuber is a great Latin and Greek scholar. On her last trip to Greece, she completed the translation of a letter that has been baffling the scholars for fifty years.

"Julia McEachen has put a new dictionary on the market.

"Barbara Calhoun and Mary Chambers are hostesses on a big boat. It is rumored two young men make frequent trips on the said boat.

"Dot Davis is editor of a big scandal newspaper. Louise Hollis, her chosen scout, rivals Walter Winchell with her gossip.

"Winnelle Millirons married a ventriloquist and has taken up the art.

"Hilda Lewis has become famous training canaries to sing. One of her quartets has sung in Topeka on a continuous run for two years.

"Marjorie Joyner is president of the largest yo-yo concern in the world. Edith Jones, Florence Davis, Lucie McCormack, and Sara Dyer are her chief instructors. Mary Edwards has just broken the present yo-yo endurance record.

"Victoria Newton, Beatrice Petty, Annie Rachels, and Effie Nolan are up at the North Pole whale fishing.

"Caroline Weddington is in the employ of the Van Dine Millions. You may see her any afternoon out exercising Mrs. Van Dine's twin gold-fish.

"Jewell Nowell and Jonnie Walker own a tea-room in Boston. It is famous for its cooking and called 'L'Indigestio.'

"Ouida Brewer has charge of physical ed at Sargent's. Margaret Burney is her chief assistant.

"Lula Mae Flowers, Effie Griffin, and Mavis Stokes teach dancing in Hawaii. It is some kind of dance done in a grass skirt.

"Elizabeth Lewis and her husband have on board their 300 foot yacht as guests, Marguerite Horton, Martha Hill, Frances Thames, Gladys Souder and their husbands.

"Margaret Waldorf swam the English Channel four times before stopping. England has adopted her for her own.

"Nellie Turner has made a fortune on her Onion Solution prepared for noses that have been exposed to the sun too long.

"Adele Connor and Ellen O'Neal, who are in Egypt on an excavation trip, have recently unearthed a petrified caterpillar twenty-five times the size of those today. Martha Pyles and Lyra Temple, doing the same work in Peru, have found many different petrified varmints including worms, toads, and rats.

"Ruth Mahone is in Reno. She has just received her decree for her fourth divorce. She is soon to enter a fifth matrimonial venture. She is engaged to the star of 'Slide, Kelly, Slide.'

"Dorothy Thomas and Frances Morgan are owners of 'Ye Ole Hotte Dog Shoppe,' the ritziest weenie joint in town.

"Margaret Watkins married a wealthy Englishman. They are living in Canada and have nine adorable children.

"Elizabeth Johnston, Margaret Stubbs, and Eloise Bowden are active advocates of a school system requiring an attendance of three hours a day and no home lessons.

"Mary Williams and Mae Williams decided to go into business together so they could economize and use the same name. They have a flea circus called 'Williams' Walloping Wigglers.' As an added attraction, they have Elizabeth Gilbert and Lois Long, trapeze actresses, and Pauline Thomas, tight rope walker.

"Gosh, Pat!'" I gasped, "I'm nearly dead. You take it up."

"All right. Now let's hear from you," demanded Gerry as she tipped back her chair and cocked a speculative eyebrow.

"It's a good thing she has finished! My whiskers are fairly twisting with news! I heard Julia Gordon, Mary Hamlin, Thelma Nichols, Moina Taylor, and Louise Thomas, who are all married and have interesting families, talking of the sad case of Virginia Addison who is now in Milledgeville as a result of having to write her senior essay on 'Pirates.'

"Because of her sympathetic powers, Marcella Campbell has been appointed chief laugher for Will Rogers.

"We were entertained by Beatrice Graves who performed on an instrument called the 'Color Organ' which combines her two best talents.

" 'Miss Eloise' Holleman poured into my astounded ears the tale that she now keeps a 'Cooky Shelf' because Gardner fell under the sway of a platinum blonde.

"Presently Ruth Hornbuckle, who is a noted explorer, gave an interesting talk.

"While I was admiring the beautiful sweets they were serving I turned to behold Clifford Horne's face beaming with pride. She is the proprietor of the U. S's Largest candy factory.

"What became of Harriet Walton, Helen Sires, Bina Lou Smith, and Kat Willis?" asked Gerry.

"A queer case, that." sighed Pat. "It was like this: they went on an expedition to Saturn to found a base of supplies and haven't been heard from yet!

"Essie Marsh was appointed private secretary to the President on the strength of winning the National Typewriting contest.

"Just after Elva Roby, who is acclaimed a world poet by our beloved critic, Miss Marie, had finished a selection, I was surprised by a musical voice. I turned to see Edwina Perry who, they tell me, won a hog-calling contest and now raises pigs.

"Maryle McClellan held me spell bound as she told me how she won the hand of Clark Gable by writing him a fan letter.

"Martha Sherwood is in use only by special permission of the copyright owners for her ability to smell a rodent in husbands' alibies.

"Mildred Stirewalt is Sherlock Holmes' assistant because she is so quiet.

"Tillie Lott related with tears in her eyes, the same old sinus, how she had written a learned treatise which proved Mahatma Ghandi was a great man.

"Dear me, is there no end to this illustrious company? We should be on the way to press now," interrupted Gerry.

"Yes," Pat replied in fervid tones, for she was giving out of breath, "I'm just before finishing! Irene Tidwell has become the leading historian of the Medieval Period!"

"I really didn't know that '32 class had it in 'em," mused Gerry as she reached for her copy-slashing blue pencil.

Travel Talk—Boys

Macon, Georgia
12 February 1945

Dear Duquince:

May I inquire how you are? I hope your health is the least of your worries. A man's health is not supposed to be perfect at thirty-three, but in your last letter you stated it was never better and you were never happier. I trust your family are also well and happy.

Too bad, you missed the reunion of our old classmates. Several were absent (as usual) but everybody who found it possible was present last Friday evening. Most of the boys are seeing their best days, it seems, and they are a happy lot. As I am still residing in Macon (recall how I used to say I'd always live here?) I was able to entertain Arthur Ferguson, Henry Collins, and Ed Graham at my home.

Thursday morning after breakfast we four rode out to the old school. I took the fellows up to see Albert Reichert who is principal now. He knows the boys like an open book—perhaps that's why they like him so much. Together we walked out to the gym and the first person we saw was Sergeant Criswell, assistant to the commandant and football coach. He escorted us to Coach Black who was chatting in his office with another group of alumni including Charles Seals and Flewellyn Murphey, two more old grads who have homes here. I saw Richard Hearn and John Goodin, who had gotten together to discuss baseball prospects. You know both are losing the ball over centerfield fence quite regularly.

It was almost time to go to the Capitol Theatre where by special arrangement with Walter Thwaite we were to see the latest picture of Orlando Cassini, screenland's biggest find in recent years. "What-a-man" wrote to me that Arnold Adams is a Vitaphone expert in Hollywood. Personally, I think Earl Carter is our greater contribution to picture fans. As Charlie Farrell's second he made the headlines but when he was featured in Wm. Jones' latest melodrama, women were cautioned to bring their smelling salts. Harry Orr's Jewelry Store was just around the corner, so we dropped in to say hello.

After the show we rode out to Shirley Hills to see "Ears" Barfield. "Ears" invested his fight profits in a palatial house in our richest suburb. Crossing the Ocmulgee I had to tell Henry about the plans to dredge the river to the ocean. Walton Davis Construction Co., lowest bidders, have detailed Chief Engineer Cecil Smith for this stupendous undertaking. Marshall Daugherty passed us on his way to town. While not engaged in his duties at the Masonic Home, he devotes his attention to sculpture. His bust of Alex Hadarits, Macon's Chess champion, is now on display in Washington Library.

We arrived at our destination and were met at the door by a little fellow who asked if we wanted to see "papa." "Ears" told us that Wilson Burkett had just wired him from Chattanooga saying that his work detained him. He is physical director at the athletic club there. Just then the door opened and Harrell Zimmerman ran in to see us. He is lots fatter than he used to be, but now you know, he manages a bakery in St. Louis. Everybody wanted to talk at once and it was a long time before things quieted. Charles telephoned Fletcher Cater and "Mutt" Talbird to hurry over.

Somebody started talking about the alumni who had become famous so it was quite natural that conversation centered around Harry Haskins, Broadway's most popular comedian. Later we got to talking of the unusual occupations some of our friends had taken and J. C. McCullough was spoken of first. How coincidental it seems that he is wholesale distributor in this section of gold teeth for football players. Gammage Coffee surprised us by becoming America's foremost lion tamer. Lately Podunk Productions, Inc., has been dickering with him to contract to train lions for picture work. Frankly we were amazed that Sam Pell chose to be a steeplejack.

Jack Avery, Macon Telegraph Athletics reporter, and Fletcher Cater arrived together. "Flew" started playing the piano and soon the whole gang were gathered around, singing till our tonsils ached. That was not long tho because we heard the noise of a husky youngster squalling his protest. Did "Ears" blush scarlet! Well, we contented ourselves with a more dignified past-time, smoking and reminiscing the rest of the evening. At one o'clock we parted, agreeing to meet at the Hotel Lanier the next noon where the late arrivers would be staying. Ed, Henry, Arthur, and I rode home and retired. During the wee, small hours that morning the doorbell rang and I got a telegram from "Pip" Caldwell who wired that he was flying from Hampton Roads, Va., where he had just picked up Walter Chew who is chief petty officer on the U. S. S. Cramatato. At nine o'clock I slipped away and rushed to Miller field where I waited a few minutes before the big ship was brought down and passengers debarked. I was pleasantly surprised to see Warren Thrasher, Boston's celebrated novelist, and Ellis Poe, a big shot among the peanut vendors.

About noontime we started down to Hotel Lanier. Duquince, honestly, you don't know how youthful the sight of those boys made me. Glancing over the register I saw such names as Forrest Davis, Bud Edwards, and George Donald. Of course it was easy to recognize Holt Gewinner because of his flaming hair. Soon the fellows began congregating and at one o'clock we lunched in the dining hall. We made it a jovial occasion, all of us shouting from one table to another and it took almost two hours to finish eating. Every time you had a fork half way in your mouth, along would come somebody and slap your shoulder. But gee! it was fun.

Friday afternoon I took the kids to see Tingling Bros. circus while the other fellows went along with "Flew" to look over the latest Ford models at the D. H. Adams Motor Co. Do you remember Virgil Cooper? Well, he tends to two big Cobras. He warned me not to be alarmed if sometime soon he changes his business connections. Didn't I almost fall from my seat when Ralph Buice stepped into the big ring and began announcing? When the show ended, Terry Murray walked into the ring and extended a challenge to wrestle any one present, winner-take-all. However, there was none present who would grapple with him. Emory Leonard was there operating the pink lemonade counter, and Naseem Abraham was selling tickets.

Well, here is the gala night. Isadore Channin, Associated Press photographer, was at the hotel entrance grinding away on his camera. The table, embellished with Lanier's colors, was shaped like a huge "L" and in the far corner the present Lanier Orchestra was playing. Presently, Albert Reichert ordered silence and Robert Hudson, Minister at Christ Episcopal Church, said grace. Seated, we found at our plates a minature Cloverleaf. Inside of it were printed the menu and program of entertainment. Abe Bennett was called away at the last minute on a serious case. Truck drivers had a representative present in Bill Sargent. Joseph Cohen has a lucrative vocation: that of selling Coca-Cola at the New York Yankee Stadium. On the other hand, Emmett Avera is a chemist employed by Edison Laboratories at West Orange. C. B. Sharp is a lucky fellow.

Travel Talk—Boys

He edits "The Spice of Life" for the Digest. By the way, he is on the program tonight which reminds me I'd better get back on the subject.

Mike Daly planned the dishes and they were "simply delish" as Northrop Smith, who sat next to me, remarked. Glover Dixon came first on the program with a few guitar arrangements, accompanied at the piano by Jessie Waller with Charles Fielding doing the whistling obligato. Then C. B. called on Thomas Evans for a novelty tap dance, after which Christy Harp, trainer of the Celtics, expressed his delight at being present. L. C. Ricks was ovated enthusiastically upon presentation; no wonder—ski champs are rare down South. Willie McGee spoke briefly on his vocation, animal husbandry. Everybody laughed at Maurice Smith and Hyman Lawless. Hyman is an excellent shot so Jack Calhoun thought it would be great fun to do a "William Tell" at Maurice's expense. It was fun, too—to everybody but Maurice. Of course he wasn't going to shoot but when he had Maurice stand against the wall and put an apple on his head—gee, I'm still laughing. After a while we finished eating, pushed back our chairs, and listened to Albert. In his inimitable manner he introduced us and gave a report of the few absentees.

Andy Edwards gives commands at West Point. Clarence Etheridge is a secretary at Bibb Mills. Spiro Floros owns a Poplar Street fruit stand. John Hancock and Allen Macon have formed a successful law firm. Grady Morgan is distribution manager of the Macon Telegraph. The Volunteer Pharmacy is "Macon's Best." Jesse Bush does everything there except hop tables. Albert said that Harry Marshall and Henry Muecke are now in Asia Minor as archeologists getting a news "scoop" for the National Geographic about the extinct Thesauras. Frank Jones is very happy traveling as Uncle Sam's meterologist, now stationed in Seattle. I suppose you hear Guy Cagle on the Wisterine program every week day evening over the Columbia network. Robert Edenfield has a patent on a very popular castor oil really tasteless. Charles Wray relieved Prof. Tanner as physics teacher at Lanier. Ed Bernd is serving his apprenticeship with the G. Burnt Hide & Seek Co. George Paul draws his monthly pay check at the J. P. Allen Co. in Atlanta as bookkeeper. Elliot Lawton's dance orchestra was playing in Birmingham and Fred Denton was there to take care of the business end. Jordan Massee teaches French at Miller. W. N. Wynens is recognized as the leading eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist in New Orleans. That's the city, you know, Duquince, where Leo Blum is also doing pre-medical work at Tulane. Warren Roberts is a poultry man out near Echeconnee and his keenest hobby is the breeding of guinea pigs. Not far from his farm is the Dixie Dairy which Harrold Hitchcock operates. Joe Johnston, after graduating at Georgia, went to Wyoming as a state forester. Three boys are studying engineering, Howard Johnson and Irwin Moore as chemists and Dick Rader as a civil engineer. I am glad to learn from your letter that J. W. McCord does well in the hairdressing line. Next Albert called on Joe Stephens and Billy Webb, Keith vaudeville headliners, and we relaxed while they offered several original vocal and piano solos. The rest is rather vague but I know that Norman Loftin is caretaker at Rose Hill Cemetery; George Wilcox is a traveling salesman for Soctor-Ramble Company, and Elliott Barron, who attended Kentucky University, is an airship designer. Oh, yes, William Harrison is faculty advisor for the hog callers' team at Worser.

We brought to an end an evening of much cheer with the singing of "Farewell to Thee." It was a "fluccy" affair, Duquince, which means seldom equalled, never beaten.

With all good wishes from, Your friend, LANG.

We, the Senior Class of Miller High School, being of sound mind and body and desirous of leaving behind some evidence of our rights, privileges, and accomplishments, do hereby make and declare this as our last will and testament:

Item I.—We bequeath to the following senior class our best wishes for a successful year.

Item II.—We bequeath to the faculty our undivided love for their faithfulness to us.

Item III.—We make the following individual and personal bequests:

We, Martha Sherwood and Harriet Walton, will our titian temperaments to Mable Kelly and Margaret Odom.

I, Marcella Campbell, bequeath my place in "Who's Who" to Cleone Jackson.

I, Louise Williams, bequeath my brilliancy to Katherine Alfriend.

We, Margaret Hooks and Josephine Riley, will our invitations to anyone lucky enough to get them.

I, Geraldine Garrett, bequeath my untiring efforts as president of the Senior Class to Louise Weaver.

I, Opal Ryle, leave my height and its many advantages to Avalona Athon.

We, Catherine Willis, Mary Hamlin, and Elva Roby, bequeath our daily ride in the bus to Sara Young, Irma Willis, and Virginia Clements.

I, Edna Zuber, will my ability to worry a certain teacher to Walton Bowen.

We, Jessie and Willie Wasdin, will our twinship to Nancy and Louise Hicks.

I, Zoe Rozar, will my ability to enjoy (?) the French class to Julia Catherine Weaver.

I, Eloise Holloman, will my regular ride to school with Gardner to Carolyn Anderson (and I dare her to ride with him.)

We, Maryle McClellan and "Tillie" Lott, bequeath our office of getting subscriptions for the Cloverleaf to Anne Branch and Josephine Happ.

I, Mildred Legett, leave my one period a day to a less fortunate student with five subjects.

We, Bina Lou Smith, Irene Tidwell, and Mildred Stirewalt, bequeath our taciturnity to Sara Vann and Elizabeth Couch.

I, Virginia Addison, will by talkative disposition to Cecilia Miller.

I, Grace Belmont, bequeath my attractiveness to Gertrude Elkins.

I, Louise Brown, will my permanent to Regina Halliburton.

We, Ruth Jones, Edith Jones, and West Jones, will our unusual names to someone who is not so fortunate.

We, Mary Crook, Virginia Ezell, Frances Swails, and Sarah Martin, will our neatness to some "sloppy" Junior.

We, Beatrice Graves and Mary Ellen Moore, bequeath our record as honor students to Ida Mae Lloyd.

We, Louise Moore, Edwina Perry, and Nida McGehee, bequeath our French books to any student who is sadly in need of them.

I, Pat Adams, will my dramatic ability to Emily Howard.

I, Doris Brown, bequeath my position of teaching "Scholastic" in history to anyone capable of doing it.

We, Josephine Early and Moina Taylor leave Mrs. Mitchell's class with regret.

Trading Post—Girls

I, Thelma Nichols, will my high heels to Catherine Cowan.

I, Essie Marsh, will my curly hair to Rose Lawson.

We, Nellie Saliba, Erma Fincher, Frances Brooks, and Mavis Stokes, bequeath our place on the honor group to Gladys Holder.

We, Elizabeth Lewis and Winnifred Powell, will our love for each other to Margie Lou Sigman and Margaret Dixon.

I, Cifford Horne, bequeath my ability to speak Spanish to Jimmie Bush.

We, Bina Lou Smith, Irene Tidwell, and Mildred Stirewalt, bequeath our tardiness and absence to Elizabeth Meadows.

I, Helen Sires, will my Senior Essay to any student who finds writing this a difficult task.

We, Marjorie Joyner and Elizabeth Carpenter, bequeath our inseparability to Caroline Feagin and Mary Patillo.

I, Betty Feagin, bequeath my place on the Cloverleaf Staff to Frances McFerrin.

I, Dot Isaacs, will my childish ways to Lois McMillen.

We, Eloise Bowden, Etta Chapman, Florence Davis, and Corinne Deal bequeath our books to the Book Exchange.

I, Edna Crimmins, will my bus to Helen Levine.

I, Mary Chambers, bequeath my cheerful disposition to Margaret Vinson.

I, Barbara Calhoun, will my meekness to Lillian Roberts.

I, Ellen Boyd, bequeath my personality to anyone wanting "it."

We, Ouida Brewer and Margaret Burney, will our athletic ability to Louise Fry.

I, Jacqueline Chambers, bequeath my brown lumberjack to Harriet McKay.

We, Peggy O'Neal and Dot Davis, leave our attractive mannerisms to anyone in need of them.

I, Hazel Birch, bequeath to Nan Holt my wit and the advice that it will last longer if only half is used at a time.

We, Lucile Bloodworth and Dorothy Thomas, will our slim (?) figures to Nell Respess.

I, Katherine Evans, will my cheery smile to Elizabeth Brazzeal.

I, Adele Conner, will my high-pitched voice to Edwina Johnston.

I, Constance Dinkler, will my "strut" to the next drum major of Lanier.

I, Nelma Ely, will my blue eyes to Marion Wilcox.

I, Frances Estes, will my deep voice to the gym teacher.

I, Elaine Gillon, will my doll-like face to Mary McLendon.

We, Elizabeth Johnston and Jule Wayne, will our love for each other to Martha Lott and Louise Weaver.

I, Caroline Weddington, bequeath my crisp little curls to Betsy Jones.

I, Maybelle Moseley, bequeath my personality to Viola Napier.

We, Elizabeth Gilbert and Annie Rachels, will our Algebra books to the next year's Algebra Class.

I, Amy Slocum, will my place as "best-all-round-girl" in Senior Class to the girl who wins this honor next year.

Trading Post—Girls

I, Frances Floyd, will my friendly manner to some snooty junior.

I, Lula Mae Flowers, will my love (?) for Office Practice to anyone who does not enjoy this class.

I, Mary Edwards, will my height (?) to Rosa Johnston.

I, Marcella Hicks, will my "big mouth" to Helen Davis.

I, Louise Hollis, bequeath my titian beauty to Mary Winship.

I, Natalie Johstono, bequeath my frivolous ways in Room 205 to Marion Swails.

We, Gertrude Smith and Virginia Thomson, will our quiet ways to Martha Wynn.

We, Margaret Watkins and Margaret Stubbs, will our love for Latin to Harriet Pittman and Margaret Campbell.

We, Lois Long and Martha Pyles, will our seat in 207 to two Juniors who have the good luck to be in this supervision next year.

I, Martha Hill, bequeath my stylish clothes to Elaine Goodson.

I, Julia McEachen, will my innumerable bracelets to June Williams.

I, Dolores Pearce, bequeath my beauty to Mary Shaw Sigman.

I, Gladys Souder, bequeath my raven locks—so graciously willed me last year—to Marguerite Goodman.

I, Hilda Lewis, will my constant chattering to Harriet Wall.

We, Effie Griffiin, Victoria Newton, and Frances Thames, bequeath our mouse-like ways to Edna Sikes.

We, Ellen O'Neal and Lyra Temple, leave our places as "specials" to a lucky Junior with fewer than four subjects.

I, Lucie McCormack, bequeath my "taxi" to Martha Birdsey.

We, Effie Nolan, Jewel Nowell, Velma Vaughn and Beatrice Petty, will our unusual names to some unlucky girl named Smith.

I, Winnelle Millirons, will my slow and easy manner of speaking French to Anne Thrash.

I, Margaret Waldorf, bequeath my blonde locks to Frances McFerrin.

I, Marguerite Horton, leave my last minute rush for parallel to Frances Spencer.

I, Mae Williams, will my sweet smile to some "grouchy" junior.

We, Elizabeth Gledhill, Frances Morgan, Pauline Thomas, Nellie Turner, Jonnie Walker, and Mary Williams leave with much regret dear old Miller.

I, Ruth Mahone, leave all my sympathy to the testator of the Senior Class of 1933.

In witness of the foregoing, and by virtue of the authority vested in us, we, Ruth Mahone and Doris Brown, do hereunto fix our hand and seal, this ninth day of June, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred thirty-two.

To Whom it May Concern:

We, the graduating class of nineteen thirty-two, being of unsound mind and weakened body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament:

To the faculty—we bequeath our everlasting thanks and eternal gratitude for their many kindnesses, especially that of helping us attain graduation.

To all underclassmen—we will our best wishes and hopes for your speedy graduation.

To the classes in 309, this advice:—Although sometimes you feel like jumping out of the window when "She" starts at you, sit still, because it will last but forty-five minutes.

The members of the class bequeath severally as follows:

We, Christy Harp and Rayfield Lines, will our everlasting brogue to any lower classmen who is an excellent tongue-twister.

I, Alton Rhodenhiser, do leave my title, "The Hockerville Flash," to little George Edwards.

We, Sam Pell, Charlie Fielding, Ellis Poe, and Alex Haderitis, do bequeath our gigantic statures to James Bryan, Pete Tillery, and the Cohen brothers.

We, Tommy Evans, Bud Edwards, Quack Ethridge, Jimmy Griffin, and Guy Cagle, having tied up in a big crocus sack our entire stock of horse feathers, popycock, bologna, applesauce, banana oil, striped paint, left-handed monkey wrenches, skirmish line, and a big beautiful Holstein Bull, leave it to be equally distributed among the next Senior Class.

I, Fred Denton, do will my "groggy" looks to Oscar Carnera Bradley.

I, Andy Edwards, do will my medals and best-drilled squads to Jack Crutchfield.

We, Maurice Smith, and Glover Dixon leave our football ambition to the Janitor.

I, Jack Avery, do bequeath my "Adam's Apple" to the lunch room in care of Mrs. Heckle.

I, Ralph Dixon, bequeath my silvery voice to James Barlow.

We, C. B. Crutchfield, Elliot Lawton, and George Donald, will our woman-hating ways to "Hook Arm" McKenna.

We, Curt Mueller, George Powell, and Robert Jones, do bequeath our extraordinary walk to Albert Hall and Frank Hackett.

We, Jordan Massee and Terry Murray, leave our school-girl complexions to O. (Clark Gable) Bateman.

I, Carl Parker, do will my graceful stride to Olin Morgan.

I, Abraham Bennett, bequeath my Grecian profile to "Lon Chaney" Ramey.

I, Harrold Hitchcock, leave my sheepish grin to J. Moody.

I, Arthur Ferguson, do hesitatingly and most unwillingly bequeath my attraction for the opposite sex to Louis Glendenning.

I, Dan Bridges, do leave Lanier to meet Fannie.

I, Ralph Buice, do will and bequeath my half-bald wad to "Onion Top" Jones.

We, Billy Webb, Fletcher Cater, and Warren Roberts do hereby will and bequeath our ability to impersonate "les femmes" to members of the next senior play.

We, H. D. Adams, and Fred Black, as we have nothing of earthly good, give up.

I, "Plowline" Ricks, will my home-made vocabulary to Tracy Holleman.

I, Henry Collins, leave my gymnastic tricks to Ned Barbre.

I, Bill Sargent, do leave my "rolling chair" character to "Fish-man" Troutman, provided he keeps it as well as I have.

To Whom it May Concern:

We, the graduating class of nineteen thirty-two, being of unsound mind and weakened body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament:

To the faculty—we bequeath our everlasting thanks and eternal gratitude for their many kindnesses, especially that of helping us attain graduation.

To all underclassmen—we will our best wishes and hopes for your speedy graduation.

To the classes in 309, this advice:—Although sometimes you feel like jumping out of the window when "She" starts at you, sit still, because it will last but forty-five minutes.

The members of the class bequeath severally as follows:

We, Christy Harp and Rayfield Lines, will our everlasting brogue to any lower classmen who is an excellent tongue-twister.

Remembrances

Should 'auld acquaintance be forgot, and never brought to mind?

By these shall ye ever know them:

Graham by his red face, little finger, stately bearing, hearty laugh, short wavy hair, clear forceful voice.

Scott will be remembered by his love for Liz, handsome appearance, weak puns, curly hair, deep laugh.

Carter by his lanky figure, good nature, imitations.

Black stands out in our memory for his all-round athletic ability, his pleasing smile, collection of sweaters, his sandy hair.

Buice recalled by his unruly hair, gaunt build, sportsmanship, aptness at basketball.

Ferguson and his modesty, ever beaming countenance, marksmanship, football playing.

Murphey characterized by his neat appearance, Cloverleaf, Miller Hi, keen mind, unassuming manner.

H. D. Adams with his Ford, Wesleyan, attendance at football games, lame knee.

Collins, famous for his gymnastic tricks, football ability, vaselined hair, "I'll bet' cha."

Hudson evinced studious habits, friendliness, worthiness, and a piccolo.

Daly of the blond hair, pride of the Irish, famous for his oratorical voice, noted for frequent absences, winner of essay contests.

Burkett retiring in manner, pleasant of disposition, small of stature.

McCullough displayed gold teeth, grin, football facility at catching passes.

Zimmerman remembered by his eternal smile, good humor, pranks, and popularity.

Bethune demonstrated baseball ability, a dimunitive size, a boyish spirit of fun.

Criswell distinguished by a military bearing, and by an ability to play football.

Chew pictured as strong and handsome of features, firm and sincere of effort, blushing and bashful of nature, worthy and attractive of personality.

Maurice Smith, dignified, slow, scant of hair, kindly, adept at football.

Barfield, who can forget his broad grin, boxing ability, popularity, cheerful nature?

Powell and a paint brush, poster contest prizes, glasses, cackling laugh.

Massee, vast of intellect, fresh of appearance, long of hair, quavering of voice.

Talbird, handsome, smiling, tender, able, outstanding for his basketball playing.

G. Dixon had a mouth full of meal, fluttering light hair, boyish laugh, a boyish grin.

Calhoun noted for his scientific theories, ears, gurgling laugh, talkativeness.

Roberts showed a retiring nature, brilliance, speaking ability, talent on the stage.

Barron brings to mind a tall stooping physique, a 440 yard dash, a happy nature.

Bridges, freckled face, thin, faint smile, retiring nature. Fanny.

Thrasher, manager of football, wearer of khaki uniform, jabberer, debater of renoun.

Wroton and his poems, blushes, athletics, attitude toward femmes.

Cecil Smith, ladies' man, basketball captain elect, slight of build but courageous and determined, a right good fellow.

Bernd wore a grin, had a slouched cap and a creamy uniform, and loved to play.

Seals had blue eyes, abundant wavy hair, an odd walk on parade, a sunny disposition.

She: "Dear, don't you think that all matches must be made in Heaven?"

Fog-brain: "Naw, cause I saw some that had, 'Made in Sweden,' on the box."

Little Johnie had misspelled frugal for three days straight. The exasperated teacher, after telling him that the word meant to save, told him to write a composition with the word in it, so that he would never miss it again.

The next day Johnie handed this composition in:

A beautiful princess lived in a beautiful palace by the side of a beautiful lake. One day the beautiful princess was looking out the window and fell into the beautiful lake. A prince was passing by. The princess cried, "Frugal me! frugal me!"

The prince jumped in the lake and frugal her and they lived happily ever afterwards.

Rastus: Black chile, why is it you always eat chicken?

Johnson: 'Cause, man, I can't carry a pig under my coat.

Miss Riding Hood: "Why are you looking cross-eyed at me?"

Mr. Wolf: "To have the charm of seeing you twice m'dear!"

Liz: "You remind me of the ocean."
Scott: "Wild, romantic, restless—"
Liz: "No, you just make me sick."

Senior: "Well, Freshman, having taken English, what do you think of O'Henry?"

Frosh: "O. K., but the nuts stick in my teeth."

Prof: "You can't sleep in my class."

Zim: "I think I could if you would talk lower."

The haughty senior co-ed was highly indignant.

"And just why," she inquired nastily of the tiny Freshman who had just broken, "did you have to cut in when I was dancing with one of the big athletes of the school?"

The mere Freshman hung his head in shame. "I'm sorry, lady, but you see, I'm working my way through college, and your partner was waving a five dollar bill at me."

Following close on the heels of Milton came Bunion.

"Is your baby a boy or a girl?"
"Of course, what else could it be?"

"Come on," shouted the side-show sheiks as they swung their scimitas, "Let's rob the Crystal Gazers' tent and split the Prophets."

Sign on Drug Store Window—"Take home a brick—you may have company."

I want to marry your daughter.
Father: "Have you seen my wife?"
Yes, but nevertheless, I prefer your daughter.

He: "Do you love to see a man smoke a pipe?"
She: "Yes, why don't you give yours to one?"

Where' Nellie from?
I dunno, I Nebraska.

Graham: "Thas funny. I never could before."

Earl: "Who was buried in Grant's tomb?"

Url: "Dunno, but wasn't it the same bird that was President during Grant's administration?"

Traveller: "Why all these tiny water wings?"

Merchant of Venice: "So we can put the kittens out at night, of course.

Hill: "Papa, what do 'stark naked' mean?"

Billy: "Hit means all undressed like you was whin the stark brung ya."

Marry me, Richard; I'm only a garbage man's daughter, but—

That's all right, baby; you ain't to be sniffed at.

Beggar: "Will you kindly give me a dime for a sandwich?"

Scotch: "Let's see the sandwich."

Dr. (to Hudson, having eyes examined): "Read the third line on that chart."

Hudson: "What chart?"

She: "A woman has more logic and reason than a man.

He: "Why so?"

She: "Oh, well, just because."

She did not resist, so he went on calmly milking the cow.

We saw this in the "Pointer"—

"Why do snowflakes dance, Mr. Ducrot?"

"I imagine they are practicing for the snow ball, sir."

Who was Homer?

Methinks it was the guy Babe Ruth knocked out so much.

Carter: "What makes your nose so red?"

Graham: "Glasses."

Carter: "Glasses of what?"

Social Worker: "And what's your name my good man?"

Convict: "No. 999, mam."

S. W.: "But that's not your real name!"

Con.: "Nome, that's me 'pen' name."

Pendleton: You'll drive me out of my mind.

Miller: That's no drive that's a putt.

"Say, mister," said a little fellow to a neighbor, "are you the man who gave my brother a dog last week?"

"Yes."

"Well, ma says come and take them back."

A good way to find a girl out—
Call when she isn't in.

"I seen my duty—and I collected it," boasted the customs agent.

On: Papa, I broke the porch light last night trying to catch some bugs.

Papa: Young man, never darken my door again.

Jac: "Geo. broke up my party the other evening. He started to tell a naughty story and I had to send him home."

Martha: "Well?"

Jac: "All the others followed him home to hear the rest of it."

Nurse: "Mr. Seals, you are the father of quadruplets!"

Mr. Seals: "What! one of them things that runs around on four legs?"

Wife: "Look at this ad—It says, "Use Blotto Cream and shave without a mug."

Hubby: "Whatcha gonna shave then?"

And surely we haven't forgotten our old friend Halitosis, who took the leading part in "The Breath of a Nation."

Two Heads are better than one, especially on a coin.

Well, what's done is done mused the cook as she drained the water off the turnip greens.

"You can't get a weight with this," justly spoke the proprietor as he moved his broken scales inside.

"You'll swing for this," he threatened, as he gazed at the pendulum and wound the clock.

She wanted to know why I didn't write to her so I told her I didn't care 2c for her.

Here's a pun: It concerns the man who missed the best things in life because he subscribed to Judge.

Moral: A rolling stone is worth two in the bush.

Zimmerman says:—

"Women bore me to death. They are all alike. They are either too sophisticated or too dull, too conceited or too indifferent. They try to be alluring when they really aren't. Women are fickle. They try to impress you by telling you all about their dates and what a wonderful time they had over the week-end. They all pull the same old gag about 'there is something different about you,' or 'somehow or other, you are the only one who understands me.' Women bore me. No matter how hard I try, none of them will give me a date."

Red agitator: "Down with capitalism!"

Collegiate: "And down with punctuation, too."

Landlady (to prospect): "Yes, this room was once rented by a famous inventor. He invented a powerful explosive, he did."

Pros: "Ah! I see those brown spots on the ceiling. Explosives, perhaps."

Landlady: "Nay, kind sir, them's the inventor."

People who live in glass houses are rather queer people.

Afterword

We hope you've found between these covers what lay pictured there. What we meant to portray was a stirring picture of our High School career and a worthy frame in which to perpetuate it. We trust you will condone our many defects, and will, through it all, appreciate the true worth of the story.

With apologies to Shakespeare and Bunyan, we say, "Farewell."
